SUMMARY OF RECOMMENDATIONS

The Joint Legislative Sunrise and Sunset Review Committee was established in 1985 to perform the functions and duties relating to the termination of specified divisions, boards, and agencies, and to consider proposals for the new regulation of occupations and professions not presently regulated.

In carrying out its directives, the committee held eleven days of meetings. Findings and recommendations prepared by the Department of Regulatory Agencies (DORA) were reviewed and the committee heard public testimony concerning regulation of proposed and existing licensing boards. Specifically, the committee considered recommendations regarding the following six areas of committee activity. Twelve bills were recommended for action in the 1988 session.

(a) Sunset Review of Existing Boards

-- State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Professional Land Surveyors

RECOMMENDATION: Bill 1 -- CONCERNING THE REGULATION OF THE PRACTICE OF ENGINEERING AND LAND SURVEYING, AND, IN CONNECTION THERewith, PROVIDING FOR THE CONTINUATION OF THE STATE BOARD OF REGISTRATION FOR PROFESSIONAL ENGINEERS AND PROFESSIONAL LAND SURVEYORS AND REPEALING CERTAIN RULES OF THE BOARD.

-- Colorado Mobile Home Licensing Board

RECOMMENDATION: Bill 2 -- CONCERNING REGULATION OF THE MANUFACTURED HOUSING INDUSTRY, AND IN CONNECTION THERewith PROVIDING FOR THE CONTINUATION OF THE COLORADO MOBILE HOME LICENSING BOARD AND REPEALING VARIOUS RULES AND REGULATIONS OF SUCH BOARD.

-- Colorado State Electrical Board

RECOMMENDATION: Bill 3 -- CONCERNING THE PRACTICE OF ELECTRICIANS, AND IN CONNECTION THERewith PROVIDING FOR THE CONTINUATION OF THE COLORADO ELECTRICAL BOARD AND REPEALING VARIOUS RULES AND REGULATIONS OF SUCH BOARD.

RECOMMENDATION: The committee's recommendation is that athletic trainers not be granted licensure.

-- Private Investigators

RECOMMENDATION: The committee's recommendation is that private investigators not be granted licensure.

-- Respiratory Therapists -- application was withdrawn prior to committee hearing.

Applications for licensure were submitted pursuant to section 2-3-1201, C.R.S.

(c) Sunset Review of Advisory Committees

-- Victims Assistance and Law Enforcement Advisory Committee;

-- State Jail Advisory Committee (the committee recommended this advisory committee not be continued);

-- Correctional Industries Advisory Committee;

-- Energy Impact Assistance Advisory Committee (pursuant to section 34-63-102, C.R.S.);

-- Energy Impact Assistance Advisory Committee (pursuant to section 39-29-110, C.R.S.);

The statutory directive for the sunset review of advisory committees is found in section 2-3-1203, C.R.S.

(d) Sunset Review of the Office of Consumer Counsel

The committee also conducted the sunset review of the Office of Consumer Counsel (OCC) this interim. Pursuant to section 40-6.5-108, C.R.S., the Attorney General performed the review of OCC and reported his findings to the committee. A copy of the report is available in the Legislative Council office.

RECOMMENDATION: Bill 9 -- CONCERNING AN EXTENSION OF THE TERMINATION DATE OF THE OFFICE OF CONSUMER COUNSEL.

(e) Review of the Occupations Relating to Mental Health

As authorized in the omnibus study resolution, the committee again reviewed the regulation of occupations relating to mental health (HJR 1032, 1987 session). Last year, the committee reported a bill to continue the State Board of Psychologist Examiners and the State Board of Social Work Examiners, and to establish a State Board of Counselor and Therapist Examiners. The two newly established boards were to perform administrative duties related to the regulation of professional counselors and marriage and family therapists. The bill failed in the 1987 session and the issue was again reviewed during this year's interim.

This year's bill relating to mental health repeals and reenacts the statutory provisions relating to the Colorado State Board of Psychologist Examiners and the State Board of Social Work Examiners. Two new boards are created to act as the licensing agencies for their respective professions: the State Board of Marriage and Family Therapists and the State Board of Licensed Professional Counselor Examiners. A grievance board is established separately from the licensing boards.

RECOMMENDATION: Bill 10 -- CONCERNING THE PRACTICE OF OCCUPATIONS RELATING TO MENTAL HEALTH, AND IN CONNECTION THEREWITH CREATING REGULATORY AGENCIES FOR THE LICENSING AND DISCIPLINE OF PRACTITIONERS THEREOF AND MAKING AN APPROPRIATION; and Bill 11 -- CONCERNING SEXUAL ASSAULT ON CLIENTS BY PSYCHOTHERAPISTS.

(f) Review of the Necessity of Rules

House Bill 1009, 1987 legislative session, directed the Office of Regulatory Reform (ORR) to notify the committee of any proposed rules which ORR believes are unnecessary for the administrative functions of a particular agency. The committee then reviews such rules and prepares legislation to rescind such rules in whole or in part.

RECOMMENDATION: Bill 12 -- CONCERNING THE DELETION, PURSUANT TO 24-34-913 (4.5), COLORADO REVISED STATUTES, AS AMENDED, OF PROVISIONS IN ADMINISTRATIVE RULES AND REGULATIONS WHICH ARE UNNECESSARY FOR THE ADMINISTRATIVE FUNCTIONS OF THE AFFECTED AGENCIES.

(a) Sunset Review of Existing Boards

Statutory Authority and Responsibility

The General Assembly, finding that the state had produced a substantial increase in numbers of agencies, growth of programs, and proliferation of rules and regulations, established a system for the termination, continuation, or reestablishment of such agencies. The process had developed without sufficient legislative oversight, regulatory accountability, or a system of checks and balances. The Joint Legislative Sunrise/Sunset Review Committee was created in 1985 and was given the responsibility for such a system. The committee is charged with providing for the analysis and evaluation of such agencies to determine the least restrictive regulation consistent with the public interest.

Six regulatory boards were reviewed:

-- State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Professional Land Surveyors;

-- Colorado Mobile Home Licensing Board;

-- Colorado State Electrical Board;

-- Colorado Examining Board of Plumbers;

-- Colorado State Outfitters Licensing Board; and

-- Colorado State Board of Examiners of Architects.

Committee Recommendations

State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Professional Land Surveyors

The board was created in 1921 as a nine-member board responsible for licensing two distinct occupations -- engineers (15,000) and surveyors (1,600). Many years ago both engineers and surveyors could practice as surveyors. Because engineering programs no longer include a surveying curriculum, engineers may now practice as a surveyor only if they have a surveyor's license. Continuation of the state board through July 1, 1994, with statutory changes, is recommended.

Currently, requirements for engineer members of the board are that a member be a resident of the state of Colorado for three years, shall have engaged in the practice of engineering for at least twelve years, shall have been in responsible charge for at least eight years, and shall have been registered or licensed as a professional engineer for at least ten years. The committee recommends engineer members be a resident of the state of Colorado for at least one year and have been registered as a professional engineer for at least five years. In addition, board appointees will be limited to two full terms instead of the current three, and appointees will no longer be required to file a written oath regarding the discharge of his duties as a board member.

The board is charged with providing written examinations in the fundamentals of engineering and the principles and practice of engineering. Currently, the board is directed to determine the acceptable grade on examinations. The bill directs the board to ensure that the passing score for any examination shall be set to measure the level of minimum competency.

The bill adds, deletes, and modifies grounds and standards for disciplinary action. The board will be able to suspend, revoke or deny licensure, or put on probation any professional engineer or engineer-in-training who is found guilty of certain actions. Such actions have been modified to include: a) misrepresentation or attempting to obtain a certificate of registration or enrollment; b) any act or omission which fails to meet the generally accepted standards of engineering practice (current law says any substandard practice, act of incompetence, or misconduct); c) conviction of or pleading guilty to a felony that is related to the ability to practice engineering (current law says any felony or any crime deemed by the board to render the registrant unfit to practice engineering); d) violation of or helping to violate any provision of the engineering statute or any rule or regulation adopted by the board; e) performing services beyond a licensee's competency or training; and f) failure to report to the board any registered engineer known to have violated any provision of the engineering statute. In addition, the board will be given the power to issue letters of admonition to an engineer based on any of the disciplinary grounds in the statute. The bill also gives the board the power to reconsider and review any board disciplinary action.

Under the bill, engineers who are employed by and perform engineering services solely for the federal government are exempt from the provisions of the engineering licensure statute. This provision merely recognizes the existing situation involving these federal employees.

The statute currently allows the board to require a personal interview of an applicant for licensure. The committee recommends the board require a personal interview only if the application fails to demonstrate minimum qualifications necessary to sit for the examination. In addition, the board will no longer be able to judge an applicant's character when considering an application for licensure.
In addition, the bill: a) modifies endorsement and experience requirements for engineers; b) adds provisions regarding the use of the professional engineer seal; c) requires insurance companies to report malpractice settlements or judgments to the board; d) changes certain technical provisions concerning surveys and boundaries; and e) makes the same changes to the statute concerning surveyors regarding disciplinary actions, consideration of an application, and modifications to endorsement and experience requirements.

Colorado Mobile Home Licensing Board

Mobile home dealers were first regulated under the Colorado Motor Vehicle Dealer Licensing Board. As the demand for mobile or manufactured homes increased in the 1970s, the Colorado Mobile Home Licensing Board was established in 1975 under the jurisdiction of the Division of Registrations. The board consists of seven members: two are public members, one of which must be a mobile home owner and resident at the time of appointment; four are licensed mobile home dealers; and one is a person from a financial institution engaged in financing mobile homes.

DORA recommended that the board be continued but said it will continue to study the feasibility of merging the mobile home licensing board and the real estate commission into one board. DORA considered this possibility because of the decreasing number of dealers, the increasing cost of licensure, similarities with the real estate law, and the increasing percentage of mobile home licensees who are also licensed by the real estate commission.

After reviewing DORA's recommendations, the committee decided to continue the board through July 1, 1989 with very few changes. The committee plans to review the board again during the summer of 1988 along with the sunset review of the real estate commission.

In the meantime, the committee's bill: a) eliminates the board's ability to certify the good character of an applicant for licensure as a dealer or salesman; b) gives the board and certain other individuals good faith immunity from liability in civil actions; and c) makes changes in the recovery fund provisions including changing the grounds for payment eligibility, eliminating payment eligibility for corporate surety making license revocation automatic upon final court order, and adding a provision concerning attempted discharges in bankruptcy.

Colorado State Electrical Board

The Colorado State Electrical Board was first created in 1959. The original law licensed only master and journeyman electricians as well as electrical contractors. Residential wiremen, apprentices, and trainees were not licensed until 1971. The original board was under the jurisdiction of the Division of Registrations within the Department of State. The board was later transferred to the Department of Labor and Employment and, in 1975, was transferred to the Department of Regulatory Agencies.

The nine-member board is composed of four electricians, two utility company employees, one building official, one general contractor, and one public-at-large member. The board is currently responsible for the licensure of about 1,400 contractors, 2,700 master electricians, 6,000 journeyman electricians, and 400 residential wiremen.

The committee recommends continuation of the electrical board through July 1, 1998 and makes various changes to the current statute.

The current electrical law provides for no limitation on the number of terms an appointee may serve. The committee's bill will limit all appointees to two full terms and will also allow the Governor to remove any member of the board for misconduct, incompetence, or neglect of duty.

The board is given additional investigatory powers such as the ability to subpoena records and documents and to compel the attendance of witnesses pursuant to an investigation or a hearing of the board, and will permit injunctions to be issued without a showing that other remedies are inadequate. In addition, the bill requires that board disciplinary action be taken pursuant to the "State Administrative Procedure Act" and allows the board to appoint an administrative law judge when conducting hearings.

Currently, only a candidate for a master's license receives credit for graduating from an electrical engineering program or a trade school. No credit is extended for graduating from community college programs when an application for the licensing exam is being considered. The bill approves these additional means of obtaining credit towards any class of licensure.

Electrical contractors are now required to be licensed to engage in electrical contracting. Electrical contractors are the only contractors in the state who are licensed. The bill provides for the registration of electrical contractors with the board instead of licensure.

Additional grounds for disciplinary action by the board are specified and the board is authorized to issue letters of admonition when an instance of misconduct does not warrant formal action by the board but does warrant some action. In addition, the board will be able to place violators on probation and will also be able, on its own motion or upon application, to reconsider its prior action and reinstate or restore a license, terminate probation, or reduce the severity of its prior disciplinary action.

The bill declares any member of the board and any witness appearing before the board or in any criminal proceeding involving a party who is the subject of disciplinary action, immune from suit in any civil action brought by the party who is the subject of such disciplinary action. In addition, the court of appeals is given initial jurisdiction to review all final actions and orders of the board that are subject to judicial review.

Colorado State Examining Board of Plumbers

The Colorado State Examining Board of Plumbers was first created in 1893 with the board of county commissioners in each county functioning as a board of health. In cities with a population of over 50,000, a board of examiners of plumbers was established. The regulation of plumbing became a state function in 1917 and statewide examinations were given.

Currently, the Examining Board of Plumbers is an eight member board made up of one journeyman, one master, two plumbing contractors, one general contractor, one employee of a local government agency doing plumbing inspections, one public member, and one non-voting member from the State Department of Health.

The committee recommends continuation of the board through July 1, 1998 and makes various changes in the statutes concerning the practice of plumbers.

Currently, the Uniform Plumbing Code covers fuel gas piping, but the board has no authority to enforce such standards. The bill defines "gas piping" and gives the board authority to conduct inspections of gas pipe installations within the board's jurisdiction.
The definition of "plumbing" is changed to include items located within the building or extending from the building to the property line instead of within or adjacent to the building.

Members of the board are not now subject to any limitation on the number of terms served and the committee's bill limits appointees to the board to two terms. In addition, the Governor will have the power to remove any member of the board for misconduct, incompetence, or neglect of duty.

The bill allows the board new investigatory authority such as the ability to subpoena records and documents and to compel the testimony of witnesses pursuant to an investigation or a hearing of the board.
The board may appoint an administrative law judge to conduct such hearing. When seeking an injunction, the board will no longer be required to prove that an adequate remedy at law does not exist or that substantial or irreparable damages would result if an injunction is not granted.

Current law gives no experience credit for graduation from a trade school or community college program. The bill allows an applicant for a residential, journeyman, or master plumber's license to substitute evidence that he is a graduate from either a trade school or community college plumbing program for one of the years of work experience required for licensure. In addition, the examination passing grade to be set by the board will be required to reflect a minimum level of competency.

As with the other boards reviewed, this bill adds additional grounds for disciplinary action by the board and authorizes the board to issue letters of admonition when a complaint or investigation discloses misconduct which does not warrant formal action but which should not be dismissed as being without merit. The plumbers board will also be able to reconsider its prior action and reinstate or restore a license, terminate probation, or reduce the severity of its prior disciplinary action.

The plumbers board and witnesses against a person who is the subject of disciplinary action will be provided good faith immunity from suit in any civil action brought by a person who is the subject of disciplinary action.

Other provisions of the bill: a) allow for licensure of plumbers from another state by endorsement upon presentation of evidence that the applicant possesses credentials and qualifications which are substantially equivalent to requirements in Colorado for licensure by examination; b) allow for a temporary permit to be issued to any applicant who furnishes evidence to the board that he qualifies for a master's license; c) provide an exemption to the licensure requirements for persons who are approved by the Department of Health and who are engaged in the business of inspecting, testing, and repairing backflow prevention devices, and for employees of the federal government who perform plumbing work on federal property; d) allow the Director of the Division of Registrations to appoint or employ competent persons as state plumbing inspectors; and e) require insurance companies engaged in the writing of insurance for plumbers to report to the board regarding malpractice claims against a licensed plumber in which a settlement or judgment is rendered against the licensee.

Colorado Outfitters Licensing Board

The Colorado Outfitters Licensing Board was created in 1903 when the wildlife commissioner was granted the power to issue licenses based on the reliability and competency of the guide. The law remained essentially the same until 1967 when the statute was repealed and a more detailed outfitter and guide statute was enacted. Few changes have been made to the statute since 1967.

The current board has five members -- three outfitters and two public members. According to DORA, the number of licensed outfitters has dropped consistently from 710 licensees in 1985 to 277 as of April, 1987. One reason DORA gives for the drop is the ineffectiveness of the current regulatory law. DORA also says the board is not needed for the public protection, a requirement for creation of a licensing board. DORA recommended the outfitters board not be continued. However, the recommendation is to provide for the registration of outfitters and guides through July 1, 1991.

Under the bill, persons operating as outfitters or guides are required to register and to pay a nonrefundable fee determined by DORA. DORA is allowed to promulgate rules and regulations to govern the registration of outfitters and guides and aid in any hearing or investigation instigated pursuant to the statute. DORA also has the power to issue subpoenas to compel testimony of witnesses and the production of any records or documentation relevant to the activities of any guide or outfitter. All actions taken by DORA will be subject to the Colorado "Administrative Procedure Act".

Circumstances under which DORA is allowed to deny or revoke an outfitter's or guide's registration or application for registration are listed in the bill. In addition, DORA will have the authority to use an administrative law judge to conduct hearings.

Criminal penalties are set out in the bill. A fine of not less than $300 but not more than $500 per violation will be assessed during the first administrative proceeding. In subsequent administrative proceedings, a fine of not less than $1000 but not more than $2000 will be assessed.

The bill requires registered outfitters and guides to provide written contracts to clients for services to be provided and specifies items to be listed in the contract. The bill makes contracts for services with unregistered outfitters or guides unenforceable and declares equipment used in such transactions to be a public nuisance subject to seizure, confiscation, and forfeiture or destruction.

The bill establishes a recovery fund to be created through fees paid by outfitters and guides. Payment is made from the fund upon a final court order against a registered outfitter or guide for breach of contract for a failure to perform a contract. Various individuals are given good faith immunity from liability in civil actions for actions taken under the act if certain conditions are met.

Colorado State Board of Examiners of Architects

The Colorado State Board of Examiners of Architects was first created in 1909. The definitions of architect and architecture, however, along with licensure requirements and disciplinary provisions, have changed significantly over the years. These statutes have been repealed and reenacted several times.

The board has seven members appointed by the Governor for four year terms. Four of the board members must be licensed architects who are Colorado residents and have practiced architecture in Colorado for at least five years. Two members must be residents who have never practiced architecture, and one member must be a licensed general building contractor who is a Colorado resident. About 4,800 architects are licensed by the board.

The committee recommends continuation of the board through July 1, 1998 and makes several changes to the board.

The bill changes the qualifications for board membership. Board members will no longer be required to have been engaged in the practice of architecture in the state of Colorado for at least five years and will only be required to be a resident of the state of Colorado. The bill also provides good faith immunity for the board and certain other parties in any civil action.

Limits are set on the amount of education and experience the board may require of applicants and the board is required to examine and modify examination requirements and practices. The board is required to ensure that the passing score for any examination is set to measure the level of minimum competency. Beginning January 1, 1990, the licensure examination is to be given at least twice a year.

Grounds for disciplinary actions are modified and expanded. The board is authorized to issue letters of admonition without conducting a hearing. In addition, the board is allowed to assess fines as the result of administrative proceedings against a licensee of not less than $500 and not more than $1000 in the first administrative proceeding. In subsequent administrative proceedings, the board is allowed to assess fines of not less than $1000 and not more than $2000. The board is authorized to reconsider and review any action it has taken and may reinstate or restore a license, terminate probation, or reduce the severity of its prior disciplinary action.

The bill also exempts employees of the federal government from this law if the employee is practicing architecture as an employee of the government. Finally, insurance companies are required to report to the board within 90 days any licensed architect who has had a malpractice claim settled or a judgment decided against him.
(b) Sunrise Review of Occupations Requesting Licensure

Statutory Authority and Responsibility

The Joint Legislative Sunrise/Sunset Review Committee is responsible for reviewing the necessity of regulating an occupation or profession when such occupation or profession, any individual, or any other interested party requests new regulation. Any professional or occupational group or organization, any individual, or any other interested party which proposes the regulation of any unregulated professional or occupational group is required to submit the following information to the committee:

-- a description of the group proposed for regulation including a list of associations, organizations, and other groups representing the practitioners in this state, and an estimate of the number of practitioners in each group;

-- a definition of the problem and the reasons why regulation is deemed necessary;

-- the reasons why certification, registration, licensure, or other type of regulation is being proposed and why that regulatory alternative was chosen;

-- the benefit to the public that would result from the proposed regulation; and

-- the cost of the proposed regulation.

The committee received six applications for new regulation.

Hearing Aid Dealers

An application was submitted by the Colorado Hearing Aid Society requesting registration but was withdrawn by the society prior to the scheduling of interim committee meetings.

Respiratory Therapists

The Colorado Society for Respiratory Therapy requested licensure for the practice of respiratory therapy as it did in 1986. DORA noted that the society provided no new information in its 1987 application. DORA therefore again recommended against the regulation of respiratory therapy. Upon receiving that information, the society, prior to its scheduled hearing date, requested that its application be withdrawn.
Athletic Trainers

The application for regulation submitted by the Colorado Athletic Trainers Association (CATA) sought state certification for athletic trainers. According to CATA, athletic trainers implement conditioning and preventative injury programs and also provide immediate treatment and rehabilitation for injured athletes, all upon the direction of a licensed physician. Clients for athletic trainers are professional, high school, college, and recreational athletes. Athletic trainers are employed by professional teams, college systems, high schools, health clubs, and similar entities.

In documenting the public protection as a result of the regulation of athletic trainers, CATA noted regulation will give the public the ability to "make a logical determination as to who would be qualified to provide this care." CATA's objective is to "assure that persons who use the term 'Certified Athletic Trainer' have met the qualifications set, therefore, providing the public with the knowledge of who can provide this service."

In documenting the harm to the public as the result of non-regulation of athletic trainers, CATA related the case of an athlete who suffered a head injury. "The severity of the head injury he suffered was minimized only by the skills of the practitioners at the game." CATA said that athletic trainers are also prepared to deal with an athlete's emotional response to an injury.

In its report, DORA recommended against the certification of athletic trainers. The report noted that, while there is documentation of harm from improper care and there are benefits to the athlete from having a qualified trainer in athletic programs, certification would not prevent those not competent from practicing and the benefits of such regulation to the consuming public would be minimal.

DORA made two recommendations: 1) athletic trainers who function as physician extenders should be registered as such with the Colorado State Board of Medical Examiners and practice in compliance with the Colorado Medical Practice Act; and 2) athletic trainers functioning in the capacity of physical therapy assistants are adequately covered by physical therapy registration and should be in compliance with rules promulgated by the Division of Registrations.

In response to DORA's recommendations, the committee: 1) wrote letters to the Board of Medical Examiners and the Division of Registrations reiterating DORA's recommendations; and 2) voted against the certification of athletic trainers.

Private Investigators

The Professional Private Investigators Association of Colorado (PPIAC) submitted an application to the committee for the licensure of private investigators. According to PPIAC, states which license private investigators define the private investigator as:

any person, firm, company, association, partnership, or corporation, who, for any consideration, engages in business or accepts employment to furnish, or agrees to make or makes, any investigation for the purpose of obtaining information with reference to: Crimes or wrongs done or threatened against the United States or any state or territory of the United States; the identity, habits, conduct, business, occupation, honesty, integrity, credibility, knowledge, trustworthiness, efficiency, loyalty, activity, movement, whereabouts, affiliations, associations, transactions, acts, reputation, or character of any person; the location, disposition, or recovery of lost or stolen property; the cause of or responsibility for fires, losses, accidents, or damage or injury to persons or to property; securing evidence to be used before any court, board, officer, or investigative committee; or the integrity, honesty, compliance with rules, or other performance of the employees of any private employer.

Private investigators work in public and private offices, courtrooms, and are also hired by individuals.

In stating the public need for licensure, PPIAC noted that law enforcement agencies are overburdened in the state of Colorado. This is especially true in the areas of civil cases and domestic issues such as families in search of missing children, men and women in search of missing spouses, and corporations in search of missing funds. PPIAC believes the general public will gain "in terms of protection from unscrupulous or unqualified persons who may currently pass themselves off as professionals". PPIAC also noted some states require a license from the home state before a private investigator can practice in another state.

PPIAC documented the harm to the public from lack of regulation by relating several incidents in which persons claiming to be private investigators were convicted of robbery, extortion, grand theft, kidnapping, unlawful possession of explosives, fraud, and other felonies. PPIAC claims that actual losses to clients resulting from documented illegal activities on the part of those claiming to be private investigators exceeds $2.5 million in Colorado.

In its report to the committee, DORA noted that private investigators have not been licensed in the state of Colorado since 1977 when the Colorado Supreme Court declared the licensing law in effect at that time unconstitutional. DORA also mentioned the discrepancy between PPIAC's claim that only five states do not currently license private investigators, and information from the National Association of Investigative Specialists, which claims that 14 states do not license private investigators. Testimony and further research found that about nine states allow localities to license rather than state licensure.

DORA's report also noted an application for regulation was submitted by PPIAC in 1985. DORA found there had been no significant increase in harm to the public as a result of deregulation in 1977. The report also said the current application from PPIAC provided no new information to document the kind of harm to consumers that could be addressed through licensure and again recommended against licensure of private investigators.

After discussing different regulatory options such as certification or registration, and discussing the problem of private investigators who are not able to practice in other states which require a license from the home state, the committee voted against the licensure of private investigators.

Community Living Specialists

The Colorado Board of Nursing submitted an application to the committee for the licensure of community living specialists (CLSs). CLSs staff community living settings such as group homes, boarding homes, board and care homes, adult foster homes and other settings in which care and supervision for persons who are unable to assume total responsibility for their lives is provided. Certain facilities are under the jurisdiction of the Colorado Department of Health. Other facilities have no supervision. Client groups generally include the developmentally disabled, the chronically mentally ill, and the aged. Staff provide supervision of activities of daily living, administer medications, and instruct clients in the self-administration of medication. Additional treatments include catheter care and irrigations, and changing dressings.

In documenting the demand for licensure, the board reported the approximately 3,200 developmentally disabled and 2,100 chronically mentally ill and aged persons are housed in group home settings. The board estimates these numbers will increase by five percent per year.

In documenting the harm to clients as a result of the lack of licensure, the board noted: "The improper administration of medications can result in a resident receiving the incorrect medication or an incorrect dosage or having the medication administered in such a way as to be ineffective."

DORA found that there is no documentation of client harm due to the absence of licensure of CLSs. In addition, DORA found that: a) it is true that a problem exists with certain group home residents who cannot self-administer medications; b) unlicensed persons in group home settings are administering medications; and c) residents who cannot self-administer could be forced into more expensive settings such as nursing homes if facilities were to comply with existing laws.
DORA's recommendation, however, was against licensure of CLSs. DORA also recommended the Department of Health be given statutory authority to adopt regulations to address the qualifications of community living specialists as they relate to the administration of medications.

The committee voted against the licensure of community living specialists but recommended a bill which creates exceptions to the medical and nurses' practice acts to address the qualifications of community living specialists as they relate to the administration of medications.

Occupational Therapists

The Occupational Therapy Association (OTA) of Colorado submitted an application requesting the licensure of occupational therapists. The primary focus of occupational therapy is to: 1) evaluate clients/patients in order to plan and implement treatment; 2) develop treatment plans; 3) implement the planned treatment or supervise the treatment; 4) monitor the patient's/client's progress and response to treatment while also modifying treatment as necessary; and 5) develop home or community programs to maintain and enhance the performance of the patient/client in his own environment. Occupational therapists implement programs in the following areas:

-- activities of daily living;
-- work simplification;
-- recommend and fabricate assistive/adaptive equipment (such as hand splints for a burn victim);
-- environmental adaptations (installing ramps, bars);
-- joint protection/preservation;
-- muscle re-education; and
-- perceptual motor evaluation and training.

Occupational therapists also work on improving the psycho/social skills of a patient/client by helping to increase interpersonal skills by, for instance, helping the emotionally disturbed patient to adjust to and live in the community by learning independent living and coping skills or by involving a child with severe burns in a variety of play activities specifically chosen or designed to increase range of motion and muscle strength and to decrease the child's fears about using the involved parts of his body.

Clients/patients for occupational therapists include those with spinal cord injuries, burn victims, stroke victims, those with Parkinson's or Guillain Barre disease, those with muscular dystrophies, respiratory disease victims, those with psychiatric disorders, those with diseases of the bones and joints, those with sensory impairments, and geriatrics.

In documenting the demand or public need for the services of occupational therapists, OTA noted that hospitals, nursing facilities, schools and other settings report significant demands for occupational therapists. In addition, a federal government manpower report indicates demographic changes in the age composition of the United States population will result in a significant demand for rehabilitative services and those who can provide those services. Lastly, a federally funded study of rehabilitation providers showed 53 percent of the respondents indicated an inadequate pool of qualified occupational therapists.

In documenting the harm to the public resulting from lack of licensure of occupational therapists, OTA stated: "Individual consumers are deprived of the services they need to make a full recovery when treated by an unqualified person and facilities claim to provide Occupational Therapy services when, in fact, no qualified therapist is employed." OTA also related a case at Ohio State University Hospital in which a burn victim, after three months of proper care in the hospital, was transferred to a hospital privately funded by his employer. The individual employed by the second hospital as an occupational therapist was not a qualified therapist and as a result of improper care and therapy, the patient is no longer capable of taking care of his personal hygiene or feeding himself.

In its report to the committee, DORA found: 1) certain functions performed by occupational therapists are a part of the practice of medicine and any occupational therapist not registered as a physician extender is in violation of the statute; 2) there is no documented public harm as a result of the lack of licensure of occupational therapists in Colorado; and 3) most hospitals and other health institutions hire only registered occupational therapists and certified occupational therapy assistants. For these reasons, DORA recommended against licensure for occupational therapists.

The committee voted against the licensure of occupational therapists but did address a letter, again, to the medical board regarding the registration of occupational therapists who perform certain functions but are not registered as physician extenders.
(c) Sunset Review of Advisory Committees

This is the first year in which the sunrise/sunset committee is responsible for the sunset review of advisory committees. This duty was assigned pursuant to House Bill 1101, 1986 session (section 2-3-1203, C.R.S.). The committee is responsible for the review of advisory committees to ascertain which have outlived their usefulness and which are beneficial to government in helping involve private citizens in the daily operations of government.

Eight advisory committees were reviewed:

-- Victims Assistance and Law Enforcement Advisory Committee;

-- State Jail Advisory Committee (the committee recommended this advisory committee not be continued);

-- Correctional Industries Advisory Committee;

-- Energy Impact Assistance Advisory Committee (pursuant to section 34-63-102, C.R.S.);

-- Energy Impact Assistance Advisory Committee (pursuant to section 39-29-110, C.R.S.);

-- Council of Advisors on Consumer Credit;

-- Mined Land Reclamation Advisory Committee;

-- Child Care Licensing Advisory Committee; and

-- Personal Care Board Advisory Committee.

Each advisory committee is required to submit the following information to the sunrise/sunset committee:

-- the names of the current members of the advisory committee;

-- all revenues and all expenditures, including advisory committee expenses, per diem paid to members, and any travel expenses;

-- the dates all advisory committee meetings were held and the number of members attending the meetings;

-- a listing of all advisory proposals made by the advisory committee together with an indication as to whether or not each proposal has been acted on, implemented, or enacted into statute; and

-- the reasons why the advisory committee should be continued.

Victims Assistance and Law Enforcement (VALE) Advisory Committee

The VALE board is under the Department of Public Safety (DPS) and is charged with advising the Division of Criminal Justice (DCJ) concerning the evaluation of grant applications and administration of the VALE fund. The VALE board reported it had three active members and two vacant positions. Revenues were placed at $432,269 and expenditures were reported to be $215,220. The board reported it had held five meetings at which seven proposals were adopted.

The sunrise/sunset committee expressed concern for the way the revenues were being spent. It appeared that not enough money went to victim restitution and that too much money went to police department equipment funds. The DCJ explained that the statute allows the evaluation of grant applications to the fund as well as the administration of fund moneys to police departments. Further, in the last round of grant application submissions, only one application was received. The DCJ plans to educate local VALE boards on how to apply for grant funds which will go to victims.

The committee recommendation is for continuation of the VALE board through July 1, 1994.

State Jail Advisory Committee

The State Jail Advisory Committee is also under DPS and is charged with reviewing and providing written comments regarding plans submitted to the director of DPS for the expansion of jails or the construction of new jails. However, DPS reported that county governments have assumed responsibility for these activities and that Advisory committee members have never been appointed. DPS requested the advisory committee's statutory authority be repealed and that action is recommended by the committee.

Correctional Industries Advisory Committee

The Correctional Industries Advisory Committee is under the Department of Corrections. The committee is responsible for considering the establishment of any industry that will utilize the services of prisoners, for considering the effect of such establishment on similar industries already established in the state, and for making recommendations to the Executive Director of the department. The eleven member advisory board had seven members as of July 23, 1987 and the Governor appointed four new members on August
No expenditures were reported. In two meetings held, the board recommended no proposals.

The department explained that few meetings of the advisory committee have been held because of the financial problems of the Division of Correctional Industries two years ago. Also, there have been no new industries for the advisory committee to consider. The division has been profitable this year for the first time since its inception in 1977. The advisory committee also has new statutory responsibilities with the passage of SB 207, 1987 session, which charged the advisory committee with looking at joint ventures with the private sector.

The committee recommends continuation of the Correctional Industries Advisory Committee through July 1, 1994.

Energy Impact Assistance Advisory Committees

The Energy Impact Assistance Advisory Committees are under the Department of Local Affairs. There are two advisory committees (sections 34-63-102 (5)(b), and 39-29-110 (2), C.R.S.). Both are charged with reviewing and making recommendations to the department on the impact of the development, processing, or energy conversion of minerals and mineral fuels in the state and on the problems local governments face regarding local tax resources and energy impact problems. One committee is specifically charged with looking at these areas as they relate to the severance tax, the other as related to mineral leasing. Nine members serve on both committees. Expenditures were reported to be $3,200 to $5,000 per year. The advisory committees met two to three times per year. Two proposals were recommended by the advisory committee and acted upon by the department.

The committee questioned the need for two separate committees with basically the same responsibilities. Department officials indicated there may be no problem with combining the two, as long as both areas of responsibility are delineated in statute.

The committee recommends a single advisory committee in section 34-63-102 (5)(b), C.R.S., and continuation of the committee through July 1, 1994.

Council of Advisors on Consumer Credit

The Council of Advisors is under the Department of Law. The council advises and consults with the assistant Attorney General who is the Uniform Consumer Credit Code (UCCC) administrator concerning the exercise of his powers and makes recommendations to him relative to UCCC. The nine-member council may also assist the administrator in obtaining compliance with UCCC. In four meetings, the council recommended seven proposals of which two were adopted by the department.

The committee heard from a retailer who advocated continuation of the council. The department indicated one of the areas to be addressed by the council in the coming year is the issue of checks returned to retailers because of insufficient funds. Creditors sometimes do not follow the intent of the law regarding such checks.

Continuation of the council is recommended through July 1, 1994.

Mined Land Reclamation Advisory Committee

The Mined Land Reclamation Advisory Committee was created in the Department of Natural Resources (DONR) to assist in establishing a data base and inventory system for surface coal mining operations. The interim committee was told that the advisory committee has never been utilized. However, DONR advocated retention of the statute authorizing the advisory committee.

This statute apparently was enacted in anticipation of extensive coal mining in the state. Because the level of mining did not meet expectations, there has been no need for the committee. Questioned as to the need for the committee, DONR was not able to guarantee that the committee would be utilized in the near future though there is speculation there may be more coal mining in the state, possibly within the next five years.

Since formation of the committee is discretionary upon the part of the Mined Land Reclamation Board, the recommendation is for continuation of the statute through July 1, 1994.

Child Care Licensing Board

The Child Care Licensing Board is under the Department of Social Services and is charged with advising and consulting with the department in the administration and enforcement of the child care licensing statutes. The board has nine members and has held 16 meetings. Of eight proposals recommended by the board, the department has adopted five.

The only topic of concern to the committee was the appointment of vacancies on the board. The department reported names had been submitted to the Governor to fill the vacancies.

The recommendation is for continuing the board through July 1, 1994.
Personal Care Board Advisory Committee

The Personal Care Board Advisory Committee is under the Department of Health and is responsible for making recommendations to the department and reporting to the General Assembly concerning: 1) the regulations promulgated by the State Board of Health regarding personal care boarding homes; and 2) implementation of the board home licensing program, the impact of the program, and the effectiveness of enforcement. In eleven meetings, the eleven-member committee has recommended four proposals, all of which have been implemented by the department.

The department addressed its concern for funding of the inspection program for personal care boarding homes. The inspection program is funded from license fees which appear to be inadequate at this point. The department is reluctant, however, to increase fees for licensing personal care boarding homes which in some cases are prohibitive.

The committee addressed a letter to the interim Committee on Long-Term Health Care Needs regarding the inadequacy of the fee structure for personal care boarding homes. The committee recommends a bill to continue the advisory committee through July 1, 1994.
(d) Sunset Review of the Office of Consumer Counsel

The Office of Consumer Counsel (OCC) was created by the General Assembly in 1984 as a division within the Department of Law. The OCC is charged with providing competent and professional testimony on behalf of residential, small business, and agricultural consumers before the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) in rate issues which affect those consumers.

Section 40-6.5-104 (1), C.R.S., mandates that OCC meet the following charge:

"by appearing in proceedings before the commission and appeals therefrom in matters which involve proposed changes in a public utility's rates and charges, in matters involving rule-making which have an impact on the charges, the provision of services, or the rates to consumers, and in matters which involve certificates of public convenience and necessity for facilities employed in the provision of utility service, the construction of which would have a material effect on the utility's rates and charges".

Created with OCC was the Utility Consumer Advisory Board (UCAB) which is responsible for assisting OCC. UCAB is comprised of consumer representatives from throughout the state who reflect the diversity of utility consumers.

Section 40-6.5-108, C.R.S., subjects OCC to termination on a date given by the General Assembly and charges the Attorney General with reviewing OCC and reporting to the General Assembly on such review prior to its termination date. In addition, section 40-6.5-109 requires OCC to report to the General Assembly on savings to consumers as a result of OCC's involvement in cases before the PUC.

OCC Review

OCC reported it had been involved in 19 major utility cases and 17 telecommunications utility cases. OCC also estimated it was solely responsible for about $4.7 million in annual savings to utility consumers and primarily responsible for almost $50 million more in annual savings, and $73 million more in one-time savings. OCC stated that it shared responsibility for about $79 million in annual savings with other parties to utility cases.

The Attorney General's report to the committee contained four recommendations:

-- OCC should be continued;
-- the General Assembly should clearly define the position of OCC as the state agency responsible for consumer advocacy in public utility regulation and that of PUC staff as exclusively advisory to the commission;

-- OCC should be given explicit authority to intervene in cases before federal agencies and in appeals of such decisions when Colorado's residential, small business or agricultural consumer interests are at stake; and

-- the General Assembly should examine whether to transfer the function of consumer affairs (consumer complaints) from PUC to OCC.

Approximately 15 interested parties testified to the sunrise/sunset committee, including representatives from the American Association of Retired Persons, Western Colorado Congress, League of Women Voters, Public Service, Public Utilities Commission, and Mountain Bell. All were in favor of continuation of OCC. The committee voted to recommend continuation of OCC with a discussion of issues relating to expansion of its role to continue at a later date.

Final Committee Recommendation

At the meeting at which its legislation was to be discussed, the OCC director testified that OCC was withdrawing all of its recommendations regarding expansion of its powers. Most of the duties that OCC wanted to expand could be accomplished administratively with cooperation from PUC. Therefore, OCC's only request was for continuation for a period of six to ten years. The bill recommends OCC be continued for another five years through July 1, 1993.
(e) Sunset Review of Occupations Relating to Mental Health

There have been several efforts over the past three years to license those occupations relating to mental health, in addition to the practice of psychology and the practice of social work. In 1985, the Joint Legislative Sunrise/Sunset Review Committee, then in its first year of existence, heard a request to license professional counselors and marriage and family therapists. The committee was told that the mental health care profession is subject to varying degrees of regulation and that professional counselors and marriage and family therapists are restricted in their practices because they are not regulated.

The 1985 committee decided not to recommend regulation of professional counselors and marriage and family therapists. The committee, instead, chose to seek more testimony and hear another request from professional counselors and marriage and family therapists during the 1986 interim when the Board of Psychologist Examiners and the Board of Social Work Examiners would be up for sunset review.

After spending a substantial portion of the 1986 interim studying the various areas of the practice of occupations relating to mental health, the committee recommended what was introduced as Senate Bill 38 (1987 session). After disagreements arose during the session between the various occupational groups subject to the bill, SB 38 was not enacted. The licensing boards for psychologists and social workers were in their wind-down year. Legislation to continue these boards needs to be adopted by the General Assembly before the end of the wind-down period, June 30, 1988, if regulation is to be continued.

For these reasons, the committee again discussed the regulation of occupations related to mental health, using SB 38 as a reference point. The committee again met with the five occupational groups involved: psychologists; social workers; marriage and family therapists; school psychologists; and professional counselors.

The bill recommended for 1988 concerning the regulation of occupations related to mental health is similar in many respects to SB 38 (1987 session). The provisions of the new bill are as follows:

-- repeals and reenacts statutory provisions relating to the Colorado State Board of Psychologist Examiners and the State Board of Social Work Examiners;

-- creates two separate new boards -- State Board of Marriage and Family Therapist Examiners and the State Board of Licensed Professional Counselor Examiners;

-- authorizes the licensing boards to deny an applicant a license or deny reinstatement of a license if a board determines that an applicant does not possess the applicable qualifications required by statute or is unable to demonstrate continued professional competence;

-- creates a grievance board which may, after a hearing, deny, revoke, or suspend a license, place a licensee on probation or issue a letter of admonition where appropriate, and may also issue subpoenas in order to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of any books, client records, and papers;

-- requires a licensing board to refer a decision to grant or deny an application or reinstatement to the grievance board if the licensing board has reason to believe or receives any information that an applicant or renewal applicant has done any of the acts set forth as grounds for discipline;

-- allows the grievance board to reconsider and review its action taken as well as reinstate a license, terminate probation, or reduce the severity of prior disciplinary action;

-- authorizes the grievance board to seek injunctive relief against any licensed or unlicensed person, including a certified school psychologist, for violation of any provision listed as grounds for disciplinary action or any other provision of the statute regarding the practice of occupations relating to mental health;

-- provides good faith immunity for any person participating in a complaint or report or in any investigatory or administrative proceeding before the grievance board; and

-- allows certified school psychologists to use the title "certified school psychologist" outside of the school setting.

One of the underlying problems of this board is that pursuing disciplinary action is very expensive. The inability of the board to pay for attorney time for hearings has been a contributing factor in the backlog of cases. About $50,000 would be needed over the next two years to handle the backlog.

In addressing this problem, the committee again considered creating a grievance board to handle disciplinary actions. The bill clarifies that cases which have been initiated, formally referred to hearing, or dismissed prior to July 1, 1988, shall be completed by the licensing board and a decision shall be rendered by that board. All actions taken and decisions rendered by the licensing board prior to July 1, 1988 are ratified.

The grievance board under the new bill will consist of either eight or eleven members, depending on the action to be taken. First, eight members of the grievance board are appointed as follows: four members from the general public to be appointed by the Governor; and four members who are licensed members of their respective licensing boards (one member from each board) and appointed by the Governor. Second, if the grievance board is conducting a disciplinary proceeding against a licensed practitioner, three additional members are to be appointed by the Governor, all of whom shall possess the same license as the person under disciplinary consideration.

Sexual Assault on Clients by Psychotherapists

Another issue considered was that of sexual assault of a patient by a mental health practitioner, either licensed or unlicensed. The committee first discussed why the problem of sexual abuse of clients cannot be covered under existing criminal law. Usually, a practitioner must be accused of having sex with a minor patient or must have told a client that sex was part of treatment before a prosecution can be obtained under current statutes. In this sense, present law is very restrictive.

Persons testifying recommended that all sexual contact in the context of a patient and psychotherapist be grounds for revocation of a license and subject to a criminal sexual assault penalty. Because of the relationship between a patient, who is most often a weaker and dependent personality, and the psychotherapist, who is seen as the authoritative figure by the patient, such contact is abusive and may be considered to be the equivalent of rape.

The committee was told that five to fourteen percent of psychotherapists surveyed admitted to having sexual contact with patients. Results of another survey reported that 65 percent of psychiatrists responding were treating clients who had been sexually involved with previous therapists. Of the therapists with whom their clients had been involved, 48 percent were psychiatrists, 27 percent were psychologists and the rest were social workers, clergy, and other psychotherapists.

The committee recommends creating two new criminal offenses. Sexual penetration or intrusion between a psychotherapist and a client or former client who is emotionally dependent on the psychotherapist is a class 4 felony; and sexual contact between a psychotherapist and client or former client is a class 1 misdemeanor.
(f) Review of the Necessity of Rules

The Office of Regulatory Reform (ORR), pursuant to House Bill 1009, 1987 legislative session, reported to the committee on existing and proposed rules which are unnecessary. House Bill 1009 further authorizes the sunrise/sunset committee to introduce legislation to strike such rules. Rules which are considered to be unnecessary are those which: a) duplicate statute; b) are not necessary to protect the public's health, safety or welfare; c) are not necessary to implement a statute; or d) involve administrative detail.

The committee was presented with letters from the ORR to the Department of Social Services, the Health Data Commission, the Outfitters Licensing Board, and the Water Quality Control Commission regarding rules which are unnecessary. The committee's recommendation was to statutorily delete these unnecessary rules and regulations.
A BILL FOR AN ACT

(2) For the purpose of the use of these systems, the state is divided into a north zone, a central zone, and a south zone.

(3) The area now included in the following counties shall constitute the north zone: Moffat, Routt, Jackson, Larimer, Weld, Logan, Sedgwick, Rio Blanco, Grand, Boulder, Gilpin, Adams, Morgan, Washington, Phillips, and Yuma.

(4) The area now included in the following counties shall constitute the central zone: Garfield, Eagle, Summit, Clear Creek, Jefferson, Denver, Arapahoe, Lincoln, Kit Carson, Mesa, Delta, Pitkin, Gunnison, Lake, Chaffee, Park, Fremont, Teller, Douglas, El Paso, Elbert, and Cheyenne.

38-52-102. Colorado coordinate system names defined.

(1) As established for use in the north zone, the Colorado coordinate system of 1927 or the Colorado coordinate system of 1983 shall be named; and, in any land description in which it is used, it shall be designated the Colorado coordinate system of 1927 north zone or the Colorado coordinate system of 1983 north zone.

(2) As established for use in the central zone, the Colorado coordinate system of 1927 or the Colorado coordinate system of 1983 shall be named; and, in any land description in which it is used, it shall be designated the Colorado coordinate system of 1927 central zone or the Colorado coordinate system of 1983 central zone.

38-52-103. Colorado coordinate system defined. (1) The plane coordinate values for a point on the earth's surface, used to express the geographic position or location of such point in the appropriate zone of this system, shall consist of two distances expressed in United States survey feet and decimals of a foot when using the Colorado coordinate system of 1927 and expressed in meters and decimals of a meter when using the Colorado coordinate system of 1983. One of these distances, to be known as the x-coordinate, shall give the position in an east-west direction; the other, to be known as the y-coordinate, shall give the position in a north-south direction. These coordinates shall be made to depend upon and conform to plane rectangular coordinate values for the monumented points of the North American horizontal geodetic control network as published by the national ocean service/national geodetic survey (formerly the United States coast and geodetic survey), or its successors, and the plane coordinates of which have been computed on the systems defined in this article. Any such station may be used for establishing a survey connection to either Colorado coordinate system.

38-52-104. Federal and state coordinate description same tract - federal precedence. (1) Whenever coordinates based on the Colorado coordinate system are used to describe any tract of land which in the same document is also described by reference to any subdivision, line, or corner of the United States public land surveys, the description by coordinates shall be construed as supplemental to the basic description of such subdivision, line, or corner contained in the official plats and field notes filed of record, and, in the event of any conflict, the description by reference to the subdivision, line, or corner of the United States public land surveys shall prevail over the description by coordinates, unless said coordinates are upheld by adjudication, at which time the coordinate description will prevail.

(2) Nothing in this article shall require any purchaser or mortgagee to rely on a description, any part of which depends exclusively upon the Colorado coordinate system, unless such description has been adjudicated as provided in this section.

38-52-105. Colorado coordinate system origins defined.

(1) For the purposes of more precisely defining the Colorado coordinate system of 1927, the following definitions by the United States coast and geodetic survey (now the national ocean service/national geodetic survey) are adopted:

(a) The "Colorado coordinate system of 1927 north zone" is a Lambert conformal conic projection of the Clarke spheroid of 1866, having standard parallels at north latitudes 39 degrees 43 minutes and 40 degrees 47 minutes along which parallels the scale shall be exact. The origin of coordinates is at the intersection of the meridian 105 degrees 30 minutes west of Greenwich and the parallel 39 degrees 20 minutes north latitude. This origin is given the coordinates: x = 2,000,000 feet and y = 0 feet.

(b) The "Colorado coordinate system of 1927 central zone" is a Lambert conformal conic projection of the Clarke spheroid of 1866, having standard parallels at north latitudes 38 degrees 27 minutes and 39 degrees 50 minutes north latitude. This origin is given the coordinates: x = 2,000,000 feet and y = 0 feet.

(c) The "Colorado coordinate system of 1927 south zone" is a Lambert conformal conic projection of the Clarke spheroid of 1866, having standard parallels at north latitudes 37 degrees 14 minutes and 38 degrees 26 minutes along which parallels the scale shall be exact. The origin of coordinates is at the intersection of the meridian 105 degrees 30 minutes west of Greenwich and the parallel 36 degrees 40 minutes north latitude. This origin is given the coordinates: x = 2,000,000 feet and y = 0 feet.

(2) For the purposes of more precisely defining the Colorado coordinate system of 1983, the following definition by the national ocean service/national geodetic survey is adopted:

(a) The "Colorado coordinate system of 1983 north zone" is a Lambert conformal conic projection of the North American datum of 1983, having standard parallels at north latitude of 39 degrees 43 minutes and 40 degrees 47 minutes along which parallels the scale shall be exact. The origin of coordinates is at the intersection of the meridian 105 degrees 30 minutes west of Greenwich and the parallel 39 degrees 20 minutes north latitude. This origin is given the coordinates: x = 2,133,600.00 meters and y = 1,828,800.00 meters.

(b) The "Colorado coordinate system of 1983 central zone" is a Lambert conformal conic projection of the North American datum of 1983, having standard parallels at north latitudes 38 degrees 27 minutes and 39 degrees 50 minutes north latitude. This origin is given the coordinates: x = 2,000,000 feet and y = 0 feet.
coordinates is at the intersection of the meridian 105 degrees 30 minutes west of Greenwich and the parallel 37 degrees 50 minutes north latitude. This origin is given the coordinates:

\[ x = 1,524,000.00 \text{ meters and } y = 1,219,200.00 \text{ meters.} \]

(c) The "Colorado coordinate system of 1983 south zone" is a Lambert conformal conic projection of the North American datum of 1983, having standard parallels at north latitudes 37 degrees 14 minutes and 38 degrees 26 minutes along which parallels the scale shall be exact. The origin of coordinates is at the intersection of the meridian 105 degrees 30 minutes west of Greenwich and the parallel 36 degrees 40 minutes north latitude. This origin is given the coordinates: \[ x = 914,400.00 \text{ meters and } y = 609,600.00 \text{ meters.} \]

38-52-106. Colorado coordinate system - use of term.
The use of the term "Colorado coordinate system of 1927 north zone, central zone, or south zone" or "Colorado coordinate system of 1983 north zone, central zone, or south zone" on any map, report of survey, or other document shall be limited to coordinates based on the Colorado coordinate systems as defined in this article.

38-52-107. Severability. If any provision of this article is declared invalid, such invalidity shall not affect any other portion of this article, which can be given effect without the invalid provision; and, to this end, the provisions of this article are declared severable.

SECTION 34. 38-53-103, Colorado Revised Statutes, 1982

IN ADDITION, AND IN A SIMILAR MANNER, THE BOARD OR ITS AUTHORIZED AGENT SHALL ISSUE A TEMPORARY PERMIT TO ANY APPLICANT WHO FURNISHES EVIDENCE SATISFACTORY TO THE BOARD THAT HE QUALIFIES FOR A MASTER PLUMBER'S LICENSE AND WHO PAYS THE REQUIRED FEE.

(4) Notwithstanding the requirements set forth in section 12-58-107 (1), a temporary master permit may be issued to an existing plumbing contractor who has lost the services of his master plumber for completion of a current project underway as long as he has a journeyman plumber in his full-time employ. 12-58-113. Exemptions. (4) Persons who are approved by the department of health pursuant to section 25-1-114, C.R.S., and who are engaged in the business of inspecting, testing, and repairing backflow prevention devices shall be exempt from licensure under this article, except when such persons engage in the installation and removal of such devices.

(2) Such inspectors may be employed either on a full-time or on a part-time basis as the circumstances in each case warrant. State plumbing inspectors have the right of ingress and egress to and from all public and private premises during reasonable working hours where this article applies for the purpose of making plumbing inspections or otherwise determining compliance with the provisions of this article.

(1) Any plumbing or gas piping installation in any new construction or remodeling or repair, other than manufactured units inspected in accordance with the provisions of part 7 of article 32 of title 24, C.R.S., except in any incorporated town or city, any county, or any city and county having its own plumbing code and inspection equal to the minimum standards as are provided in this article, shall be inspected by a state plumbing inspector. A state plumbing inspector shall inspect any new construction, remodeling, or repair subject to the provisions of this subsection (1) within three working days after the receipt of the application for inspection. If the inspection is not performed within five working days, work may resume on any such construction, repair, or remodeling. Prior to the commencement of any such plumbing or gas piping installation, the person making such installation shall make application for inspection and pay the required fee therefor. Every mobile home or movable structure owner shall have the plumbing and gas piping hookup for such mobile home or movable structure inspected prior to obtaining new or different plumbing or gas service.

(2) A state plumbing inspector shall inspect the work performed, and, if such work meets the minimum standards set forth in the Colorado plumbing code referred to in section 12-58-104.5, a certificate of approval shall be issued by the inspector. If such installation is disapproved, written notice thereof together with the reasons for such disapproval shall be given by the inspector to the applicant. If such installation is hazardous to life or property, the inspector disapproving it may order the plumbing or gas service thereto discontinued until such installation is rendered safe. The applicant may appeal such disapproval to the board and shall be granted a hearing by the board within seven days after notice of appeal is filed with the board. After removal of the cause of such disapproval, the applicant shall make application for reinspection in the same manner as for the original inspection and pay the required reinspection fee.

(3) (a) All inspection permits issued by the board shall be valid for a period of twelve months, and the board shall cancel the permit and remove it from its files at the end of the twelve-month period, except in the following circumstances:

(I) If an applicant makes a showing at the time of application for a permit that the plumbing or gas piping work is substantial and is likely to take longer than twelve months, the board may issue a permit to be valid for a period longer than twelve months, but not exceeding three years.

(II) If the applicant notifies the board prior to the expiration of the twelve-month period of extenuating circumstances, as determined by the board, during the twelve-month period, the board may extend the validity of the permit for a period not to exceed six months.

(b) If an inspection is requested by an applicant after a permit has expired or has been cancelled, a new permit must be applied for and granted before an inspection is performed.

(4) Each application, certificate of approval, and notice of disapproval shall contain the name of the property owner, if known, the location and a brief description of the installation, the name of the general contractor if any, the name of the plumbing contractor or licensed plumber and state license number, the state plumbing inspector, and the inspection fee charged for the inspection. The original of a notice of disapproval and written reasons for disapproval and corrective actions to be taken shall be mailed to the board, and a copy of such notice shall be mailed to the plumbing contractor, within two working days after the date of inspection, and a copy of the notice shall be posted at the installation site. Such forms shall be furnished by the board, and a copy of each application, certificate, and notice made or issued shall be filed with the board.

(5) Notwithstanding the fact that any incorporated town or city, any county, or any city and county in which a public school is located or is to be located has its own plumbing code and inspection authority, any plumbing or gas piping installation in any new construction or remodeling or repair of a public school shall be inspected by a state plumbing inspector.

(6) In the event that any incorporated town or city, any county, or any city and county intends to commence or cease performing plumbing or gas piping inspections in its respective jurisdiction, written notice of such intent shall be given to the board.

(7) (a) Any person claiming to be aggrieved by the failure of a state plumbing inspector to inspect his property after proper application or by notice of disapproval without setting forth the reasons for denying the inspection permit, may request the program administrator to review the actions of the plumbing inspector or the manner of the inspection. Such request may be made by his authorized representative and shall be in writing.

(b) Upon the filing of such a request, the program administrator shall cause a copy thereof to be served upon the state plumbing inspector complained of, together with an order requiring such inspector to answer the allegations of said request within a time fixed by the program administrator.

(c) If the request is not granted within ten days after it is filed, it may be treated as rejected. Any person aggrieved by the action of the program administrator in refusing the request may file a written complaint and request for a hearing with the board, specifying the grounds relied upon.

(d) Any hearing before the board shall be held pursuant to the provisions of section 24-4-105, C.R.S.

SECTION 16. 12-58-115, Colorado Revised Statutes, 1985 Repl. Vol., is REPEALED AND REENACTED, WITH AMENDMENTS, to read:

(2) Such fine shall not be less than five hundred dollars or greater than one thousand dollars and shall be transmitted to the state treasurer, who shall credit the same to the general fund.

(3) All fines shall be imposed in accordance with the provisions of section 24-4-105, C.R.S.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to diminish or change the obligation of each licensee or certified school psychologist employed by the corporation to conduct his practice so as not to violate the provisions of section 12-43-704 (1). Any licensee or certified school psychologist who by act or omission causes the corporation to act or fail to act in a way which violates the provisions of section 12-43-704 (1), or any provision of this section, shall be deemed personally responsible for such act or omission, and shall be subject to discipline by the grievance board therefor.

(4) A professional service corporation may adopt a pension, profit sharing (whether cash or deferred), health and accident, insurance, or welfare plan for all of its employees including lay employees, if such plan does not require or result in the sharing of specific or identifiable fees with lay employees, and if any payments made to lay employees, or into any such plan in behalf of lay employees, are based upon their compensation or length of service, or both, rather than the amount of fees or income received.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to modify the privileges regarding confidential communications specified in sections 12-43-218 and 13-90-107 (1) (g), C.R.S.

If a board determines that an applicant does not possess the applicable qualifications required by this article or is unable to demonstrate his continued professional competence as required by section 12-43-204 (4), the board may deny the applicant a license or deny the reinstatement of a license pursuant to section 12-43-204 (4); and, in such instance, the board shall provide such applicant with a statement in writing setting forth the basis of the board's determination that the applicant does not possess the qualifications or professional competence required by this article.

If a board has any reason to believe that or receives any information that an applicant, renewal applicant, or reinstatement applicant has done any of the acts set forth in section 12-43-704 (1) as grounds for discipline, the board shall refer the matter to the grievance board. If the grievance board finds no basis to deny the license, it shall notify the board and the board may grant a license to the applicant, renewal applicant, or reinstatement applicant. The order of the board to grant or deny such license shall be the final agency action.

A board, on its own motion or upon application, at any time after the refusal to grant a license, may reconsider its prior action and grant such license. The taking of any such further action shall rest in the sole discretion of the board; except that the board shall not act in contradiction to a decision of the grievance board.

12-43-213. Legislative intent - schools and colleges - examinations. It is the intent of the general assembly that the definition relating to full-time courses of study and institutions of higher education for graduation of persons who are thereby qualified to take examinations for licensure under this article be liberally construed by each board under its rule-making powers to ensure the right to take such examinations. It is not the intent that technical barriers be used to deny the ability to take such examination.

12-43-214. Mandatory disclosure of information to clients. (1) Except in emergency situations or in institutional settings where psychotherapy is being administered by multiple providers or pursuant to a court order, every unlicensed psychotherapist, licensee, or certified school psychologist practicing outside the school setting shall provide the following information in writing to each client during the initial client contact:

(d) A statement indicating that:
A client is entitled to receive information about the methods of therapy, the techniques used, the duration of therapy, if known, and the fee structure;

The client may seek a second opinion from another therapist or may terminate therapy at any time;

In a professional relationship, sexual intimacy is never appropriate and should be reported to the grievance board;

The information provided by the client during therapy sessions is legally confidential in the case of licensed marriage and family therapists, clinical social workers, professional counselors, and psychologists, and certified school psychologists, except as provided in section 12-43-218 and except for certain legal exceptions which will be identified by the licensee or certified school psychologist should any such situation arise during therapy.

If the client is a child who is consenting to mental health services pursuant to section 27-10-103, C.R.S., disclosure shall be made to the child. If the client is a child whose parent or legal guardian is consenting to mental health services, disclosure shall be made to the parent or legal guardian.

The provisions of this article shall not apply to the practice of rehabilitation counseling as performed in the private and public sectors; except that the provisions of this article shall apply to rehabilitation counselors practicing psychotherapy in the field of mental health.

Title use restrictions. A psychologist, clinical social worker, marriage and family therapist, or professional counselor may only use the title for which he is licensed under this article. Except as provided in section 12-43-304 (5), no other person shall hold himself out to the public by any title or description of services incorporating the words "licensed clinical social worker", "clinical social worker", "LCSW", "marriage and family therapist", "LMFT", "professional counselor", "psychologist", "psychological", or "psychology", and he shall not state or imply that he is licensed to practice clinical social work, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or psychology. Nothing in this section shall prohibit a person from stating or using the educational degrees which he has obtained.

Judicial review of final board actions and orders. Final actions and orders of a board appropriate for judicial review may be judicially reviewed in the court of appeals, and judicial proceedings for the enforcement of a board order may be instituted in accordance with section 24-4-106 (11), C.R.S.

(1) A licensee or certified school psychologist shall not disclose, without the consent of his client, any confidential communications made by the client to him, or his advice given thereon, in the course of professional employment; nor shall a licensee's or certified school psychologist's employee or associate, whether clerical or professional, disclose any knowledge of said communications acquired in such capacity; nor shall any person who has participated in any therapy conducted under the supervision of a licensee or certified school psychologist, including, but not limited to, group therapy sessions, disclose any knowledge gained during the course of such therapy without the consent of the person to whom the knowledge relates.

(3) The records and information produced and used in the review provided for in paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of this section shall not become public records solely by virtue of the use of such records and information. The identity of any client whose records are so reviewed shall not be disclosed to any person not directly involved in such review process, and procedures shall be adopted by the grievance board, hospital, association, or society to insure that the identity of the client is concealed during the review process itself and to comply with the provisions of section 12-43-705 (4).

(4) Except for any person included within the provisions of section 13-90-107 (1) (g), C.R.S., subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to any delinquency or criminal

If the grievance board determines that it is in the best interest of a complainant or other recipient of services to keep such proceedings or documents relating thereto closed to the public, then the final action of the grievance board must be open to the public without disclosing the name of the client or other recipient.
(5) Final grievance board actions and orders appropriate for judicial review may be judicially reviewed in the court of appeals, and judicial proceedings for the enforcement of a grievance board order may be instituted in accordance with section 24-4-106 (11), C.R.S.

(7) Any grievance board member having an immediate personal, private, or financial interest in any matter pending before the grievance board shall disclose the fact to the grievance board and shall not vote upon such matter.

(8) Any licensee or certified school psychologist against whom a malpractice claim is settled or a judgment rendered in a court of competent jurisdiction shall notify the grievance board of such judgment or settlement within sixty days of such disposition.

(9) Licensees and certified school psychologists have the duty to report to the grievance board any unlicensed psychotherapist, certified school psychologist, or licensee known, or, upon information and belief, believed, to have violated any of the provisions of section 12-43-704, unless such report would violate the prohibition against disclosure of confidential information without client consent pursuant to section 12-43-218.

12-43-706. Reconsideration and review of action of grievance board. The grievance board, on its own motion or upon application, at any time after the imposition of any discipline as provided in section 12-43-705, may reconsider its prior action and reinstate or restore such license or terminate probation or reduce the severity of its prior disciplinary action. (2) If it is established that the defendant has been or is committing any act prohibited by this article, the court shall enter a decree perpetually enjoining said defendant from further committing said act.

(3) Such injunctive proceedings shall be in addition to and not in lieu of all penalties and other remedies provided in this article.

(4) When seeking an injunction under this section, the grievance board shall not be required to allege or prove either that an adequate remedy at law does not exist or that substantial or irreparable damage would result from a continued violation.

12-43-709. Expenses of the grievance board. All reasonable expenses of the grievance board shall be paid as determined by the director of the division of registrations from the fees collected pursuant to section 12-43-204 as provided by law.
