SUMMARY OF RECOMMENDATIONS

The interim Committee on Criminal Justice was charged with studying the following topics pursuant to H.J.R. 1002, 1989 Extraordinary Session:

- overcrowding and long-term prison construction;
- requests for additional facilities and beds in relationship to sentencing laws and inmate classification;
- privatization of prison services;
- sentencing alternatives such as intensive supervision probation and parole, home detention, community corrections, and regimented inmate discipline programs;
- the relationship between drug abuse and crime, including drug abuse in the prison system, drug dependent infants, and drug policies for probationers and parolees;
- preparole programs;
- responsibility counseling programs; and
- job training and literacy programs.

The committee recommends four bills for legislation in the following four areas, listed in order of priority:

- preparole facilities;
- reorganization of community-based programs;
- drug abuse in the criminal justice system; and
- regimented inmate discipline programs.

Concerning Authorization of the Department of Corrections to Contract for Preparole Programs and Facilities, and Making an Appropriation Therefor. The first bill allows the Executive Director of the Department of Corrections (DOC) to contract for preparole facilities to be located in the community. Inmates in the facilities will remain wards of the DOC and, therefore, will not be allowed movement in the community.

Preparole facilities will serve inmates who are within 90 days of parole and who have been rejected from or are ineligible for community corrections programs. The bill includes a provision for local community corrections boards to approve or disapprove the location of and clients referred to such a facility. The committee considered and rejected the same bill without this provision.

Concerning Community-Based Corrections. The second bill creates the Division of Community-Based Corrections in the Department of Public Safety (DPS). The division is responsible for all probation, parole, community corrections, and intensive supervision services for adults. The bill delineates the responsibilities of several agencies: the DOC regarding the operation of secure facilities; the Judicial Department regarding pre- and post-sentence services; and the DPS regarding probation, parole, intensive supervision, and community corrections services.

Concerning the Elimination of Substance Abuse in the Criminal Justice System, and Making an Appropriation in Connection Therewith. Bill three addresses the problem of substance abuse in the criminal justice system, specifically correctional facilities. The bill requires that presentence reports in any criminal case include the results of drug and alcohol screens. Inmates (under certain circumstances), parolees, probationers, and community corrections clients are all required to submit to weekly screens. Exceptions to the weekly tests and sanctions -- a combination of punishment and/or treatment -- for those testing positive are provided.

The bill also creates the Commission on the Elimination of Substance Abuse in the Criminal Justice System in the DPS. Consisting of 21 members, the commission is charged with studying a variety of topics related to substance abuse and crime and substance abuse treatment.

Concerning a Regimented Inmate Discipline and Treatment Program, and Making an Appropriation in Connection Therewith. Bill four authorizes regimented inmate discipline programs or "boot camps." The bill authorizes the DOC to develop and establish a boot camp program and to develop and establish standards and programs. Inmates are assigned by the Executive Director of the DOC to remain in the program for 90 days. Parameters and requirements for inmates to be assigned are outlined in the bill. No more than 100 inmates at a time may participate and no more than 400 inmates per year may be assigned. Inmates successfully completing the program will be eligible for reconsideration of sentence.

Other Proposals

The committee endorses three other bills, not considered interim committee bills, that will be introduced during the 1990 legislative session.

Concerning the Prevention of the Illegal Use of Drugs, Narcotics, and Other Controlled Substances. This bill amends the "Colorado Controlled Substances Act" to conform with the "Uniform Controlled Substances Act." It allows analog tables of controlled substances to be amended by rule and regulation rather than statutory enactment.

Concerning the Protection of Confidential Informants in Criminal Cases. This bill creates the crime of revealing the identity of a confidential informant, a class 2 petty offense. The publication or broadcast of the name of a confidential informant is prohibited.

Concerning Substance Abuse, and Making an Appropriation in Connection Therewith. This bill provides for comprehensive drug testing of employees by employers and requires certain professionals to submit to testing. It also creates new criminal offenses and requires drug tests for drivers license applicants and renewals.

Response to Requests of the Capital Development Committee

At the request of the Capital Development Committee, the interim committee submits its conclusions in three other areas.

- Sentencing. The committee recommends no changes in sentencing and suggests the Criminal Justice Commission make sentencing its sole concern.
- Classification. Upon recommendation from the DOC, the committee recommends no changes in the current classification instrument. The DOC plans to validate the current instrument which was implemented in May, 1989.
- Facilities. The committee recommends the expansion of the new Limon Correctional Facility; a new special needs facility at the Colorado State Hospital (CSH); and a new women's facility in Denver. The need for other facilities should be evaluated upon completion of these projects and in conjunction with changes in the sentencing laws.

BACKGROUND

Sentencing

In order to evaluate prison population in relationship to sentencing laws, it is important to understand the state's sentencing philosophy. Testimony from the Division of Criminal Justice (DCJ) indicated that Colorado's sentencing policies are not clearly articulated and bear little relationship to available resources. The result is one of the longest average length of stay figures in the nation (34 months compared with a national average of 25 months and estimated to increase to 53 months by 1995), overcrowded facilities, and a need for large numbers of additional beds in order to house the expanding population. Colorado sentencing policies incorporate several philosophies, including incapacitation, deterrence, rehabilitation, and punishment. If current sentencing policies are maintained, prison population projections indicate over 10,000 beds will be needed by 1995, a 45.2 percent increase over present bed capacity of 5,568. Projections made in November 1989 indicate that close to 11,500 beds will be needed by 1995, a 51.5 percent increase over present bed capacity (Appendix A).

PRISON POPULATION PROJECTION FOR 1995 (Simplified Formula)

ADMISSIONS multiplied by AVERAGE LENGTH OF STAY (in months) divided by 12 months equals PROJECTED POPULATION [or $(2300 * 53) / 12 = 10,158$]

SENSITIVITY -- +5 PERCENT ADMISSIONS = 507 BEDS
-- +1 MONTH AVERAGE LENGTH OF STAY = 191 BEDS

Two basic sentencing policies are punishment and risk control. Punishment takes two forms: just deserts and general detention. Risk control takes two forms: incapacitation and rehabilitation.

Examples of policy options are:

just deserts -- eliminate parole;

general detention -- all felons receive minimum 5 year prison term;

incapacitation -- selective incapacitation, i.e., try to predict which offenders are more likely to recidivate. (Those less likely to recidivate serve shorter sentences while those more likely to recidivate serve longer sentences); and rehabilitation -- inmate treatment programs.

California has a clearly stated sentencing policy of just deserts. The average length of stay for inmates in California is 19 months; offenders are guaranteed speedy sentencing and incarceration. Louisiana is an example of a state with incapacitation as its sentencing policy. Average length of stay in that state is 60 months.

Another sentencing option is structured sentencing. A scale similar to a sentencing grid is used in which offenses are ranked on one scale and then compared with another scale on which predictors of success and failure are ranked. Structured sentencing may encompass all four sentencing policies (incapacitation, rehabilitation, just deserts, and detention).

An effective sentencing policy should be clearly articulated, should be flexible enough to have integrated goals, should be conducive to coordination of policy with resources, and should be conducive to modification.

Testimony from the Colorado District Attorneys Council urged that the state's sentencing structure not be altered. Colorado is beginning to see the results of changes made to sentencing laws in 1985 in the form of longer periods of incarceration. To make changes to that policy would mean that stabilization of the prison population would take even longer. In addition, the results of longer periods of incarceration are fewer criminals on the streets committing fewer crimes and lower costs associated with crime.

Sentencing laws are not the only factor driving prison population. There are "pressure points" in the criminal justice system other than sentencing which should be considered, such as the following:

- diversion is not fully utilized because of funding problems. If there is a borderline case and the question is whether to file or not, the district attorney would utilize diversion;
- a judge's discretion in handing down a sentence is a hallmark and necessity of the system;
- probation has become routine and ineffective. Intensive supervision programs should be utilized;
- victim's issues, such as victim and witness protection and restitution should be addressed, especially where children and the elderly are concerned;
- education programs, especially drug education programs, should be available and effective;

- drugs -- drugs have a great impact on the commission of crimes, the judicial system, and the correctional system;
- "cookie-bandit" issue -- this is a falsehood. Prisons are not filled with people who are guilty of relatively minor crimes like shoplifting or writing bad checks. By the time a person gets to prison, he is most likely a veteran of the criminal justice system;
- plea bargaining -- Plea bargains are a necessary evil of the judicial process. Fund the system adequately (more prison space, more judges and courts), and plea bargains would not be necessary;
- economic cost -- compare the cost of not incarcerating, e.g., the costs related to the commission of crimes, to the cost of building prisons. (Many argue the cost of crime is more than the cost of incarceration); and
- reclassification of crimes and sentences -- there are case law and equal protection questions as well as public pressure issues related to the reclassification of crimes and sentences.

No specific proposals for altering the sentencing structure were presented. Some testimony advocated amending the habitual criminal statute (section 16-13-101, C.R.S.) to differentiate between violent and nonviolent offenses. Such an amendment would reduce the number of offenders being sentenced for 25 to 50 years for a third felony conviction or to life imprisonment for a fourth felony conviction, and would reduce the average length of stay. Testimony also advocated amending the same statute to reduce the length of time between offenses for which the statute applies, now ten years. In addition, the committee was told it should amend the mandatory 40-year-with-no-parole statute for class 1 felonies (section 18-1-105 (4), C.R.S.) as a method to control prison population.

The committee makes no recommendations regarding alternatives to the present sentencing structure.

Classification Instruments

In relation to the sentencing structure and inmate classification, the DOC explained that its objective-based classification process is used as a population management tool. Each inmate is classified using a weighted rating scale upon entering the DOC and is thereafter reclassified every six months. Overcrowding pressures dictate that inmates are sometimes reclassified more often than every six months. Inmates are sometimes incarcerated in maximum or close custody for longer periods of time than necessary before they are reclassified. In addition, overrides (inmates who are classified in a higher custody level than necessary) have been a problem with the classification instrument. Regardless, the DOC discouraged changes to the classification instrument and reported it would soon validate the current classification instrument in order to verify its results.

While the committee did not discuss or receive testimony from parties advocating the position taken in a Rutgers study of the DOC's classification instrument, the Joint Budget Committee did receive testimony from the Rutgers researcher, and the Capital Development Committee also expressed interest in that study. Rutgers researchers found the following: the DOC's classification instrument reflects policy decisions rather than accurate classification of inmates; the classification instrument achieves an accurate distribution based on current population; the DOC's instrument classifies many inmates at a higher than necessary level because of the weight placed on minor infractions; and there is a large population of low-risk offenders in Colorado prisons.

The DOC explained that the classification instrument examined by Rutgers researchers is no longer in use. A new instrument was implemented by the DOC in May 1989. Under the prior instrument, overrides reached a rate of 35 percent in 1988 and nearly 50 percent by early 1989. Contributing factors to the high rate of overrides were: including the parole eligibility date in the sentence, which put too many unsuitable offenders at the low end of classification; an insufficient pool of inmates eligible for community-based programs (no longer a problem); violent offenders moved into lower levels of classification too quickly; and courts which did not score offenders accurately.

In order to correct some of these problems, the DOC made several changes: the weights for institutional violence were increased; the weights for multiple violent offenders and escapees were increased; variables were added to parole eligibility dates; greater weight was added to the offense multiplier; and additional negative points were added for good behavior. As a result, ideal custody level percentages are as follows: maximum -- 8.7 percent; close -- 8.3 percent; medium -- 44.1 percent; restricted minimum -- 14.6 percent; and minimum -- 24.3 percent.

After implementing the new instrument in May 1989, 29 percent of inmates in higher custody levels moved into lower levels, 17 percent moved into higher levels. As a result of the new instrument, institutional violence has become a more meaningful variable and there is an increase in the impact of the disciplinary variable. The committee agreed that altering the classification scale for the sole purpose of moving offenders into lower security levels or into the community was not advisable and does not recommend any changes in the current classification scale.

Privatization

Discussions on privatization focused on prison services such as food and medical services rather than the privatization of entire facilities. According to the DOC, bids have been requested for medical and food services. Because the DOC can provide such services at a lower cost than the private sector, bidders consider such contracts unprofitable and some bidders have requested a guaranteed profit be built into the contract.

Accordingly, the DOC is looking at alternatives in utilizing the private sector in areas such as food service. The DOC is studying a "quick chill" method of food preparation which will allow a private company to cook the food, "quick chill" the food, and send it to the correctional facilities where inmates would thaw the food and prepare the meal. This alternative would allow the DOC to contract for food service without losing much of its inmate labor work force.

The DOC has also explored the concept of using inmates for road construction and maintenance. This has met with opposition from the private sector which does not want to lose a portion of its contracts. In addition, organized labor resists the practice of paying inmates a lower wage for the same job performed by the private sector. The DOC considered asking for a ten percent portion of transportation contracts but has found it would not be cost effective to do so.

The committee was not charged with discussing privatization of facilities though the issue did arise at the joint meeting with the Capital Development Committee. One example the committee found interesting was a 500-bed minimum security facility in Texas which was built and funded by the state and then leased to a private company which operates the facility and provides services and programs.

Job Training and Literacy

The issues of job training and literacy programs in prison facilities were addressed during the committee's tour of correctional facilities in Canon City. The committee reviewed examples of job training programs at the Centennial (maximum security) facility. Centennial has a sewing shop in which inmate uniforms and U.S. and Colorado state flags are made. A print shop at Centennial produces all forms used by the DOC and most forms and booklets used by other state departments as well as license plate tags. Inmates do layouts for state publications, magazines, and newspapers in the facility's print shop.

The committee learned that because not enough jobs are available for all inmates, the unemployment rate at Centennial is 15 percent. Inmates coming into the system work on a "labor gang" which is a clean-up crew. Inmates, upon application, are progressively moved into other jobs. The labor gang is paid fifty cents per day. Inmates in jobs such as the print shop, who have good work and behavior records, make a maximum of $2.00 per day. Inmates work eight-hour days, five days a week.

The education system in the DOC is an adult delivery system comparable to the community college system. The average age of inmates in education programs is 31; the average IQ is 90 to 100; the average grade level is eighth grade; and the average reading level is seventh grade. Many students have or have had alcohol or drug abuse problems and, therefore, are slow and remedial learners with short attention spans.

Of the inmates participating in education programs, 45 percent have high school, GED, or college backgrounds. Of that 45 percent, 15 percent have been in college and 30 percent have high school or GED backgrounds. The remaining 55 percent of inmates are functionally illiterate; i.e., they are illiterate or have a zero to eighth grade education level. Of that 55 percent, 15 percent have a zero to fourth grade education level, 25 percent have a fifth to eighth grade education level, and 15 percent are qualified to take the GED but have not done so.

The DOC has developed workplace literacy programs which concentrate on use of academic skills in the workplace. Instead of concentrating solely on academic skills or work training, the inmate is taught to make decisions based on academic training in the workplace and to use academic skills in solving problems in the workplace. The DOC is also pursuing Training Industries and Education (TIE) programs in which an inmate is trained in a certain skill so he can then be utilized in correctional industries programs. For instance, the Shadow Mountain Correctional Facility has a carpentry and woodworking program. Inmates are certified upon completion of the program and move into the Correctional Industries furniture workshop. A problem exists in that inmates with lengthy sentences often train and forget the skill before they are placed in a job.

Education programs are voluntary but incentives are provided to encourage participation. For example, inmates can earn good time for satisfactory participation in and completion of literacy corrections programs or some combination of employment, training, or treatment programs (section 17-22.5-302, C.R.S.). In some institutions, such as the Women's Correctional Facility, lack of funds has reduced the availability of education programs.

The DOC has established a consortium of agencies to provide programs and funding for programs. The U.S. Department of Labor and Employment, the Colorado Community College and Occupational Education System, and the Joint Training and Partnership Act (JTPA) program have all provided assistance in the way of funding or training in offender employment programs.

The Justice Assistance Program has awarded the DOC a grant for an offender employment coordinator. As a result, the DOC has been able to develop a dialogue with prospective employers so that an employer knows the education and training level of the prospective inmate employee before he is hired. Previously, an employer would hire an inmate without knowing his level of training and would sometimes be disappointed when the level did not meet expectations. The DOC has also received a $120,000 supplemental grant for computer literacy programs.

The committee heard testimony about a pilot program at Buena Vista called "Prison Possibilities" in which inmates participate in a four-day, two-evening intensive counseling program. The inmate is subjected to rigorous inquiry forcing him to confront the root of problems in his life. The inmate is forced to accept responsibility for his actions and to reformulate his ideas and life goals. One-hundred twenty-two Colorado inmates have participated in a pilot project. Of 203 Michigan inmates completing the Prison Possibilities program, 128 have been released from prison. Of those, 75 have been out for between one and three years with a recidivism rate of 10.7 percent. A three year plan has been drafted for Colorado involving 500 inmates and 180 DOC staff.

The committee makes no recommendations regarding job training and literacy programs.

Overcrowding and Prison Construction

The committee reviewed the DOC's five-year bed implementation plan (TABLE I) which compares prison population with facilities the DOC proposes to bring on line and those the DOC proposes to discontinue through attrition. According to the plan, if the proposed facilities are funded and constructed and sentencing laws are not changed, the inmate population will match beds available by 1995.

Actual inmate population, as of June 1989, is 6,189. The capacity of correctional facilities is 5,568. The difference is a shortage of 621 beds. By June of 1990, new beds at Arrowhead and Delta, along with new community and honor camp beds, will come on line in order to meet the DCJ's population projection of 7,008 with a total of 7,035 beds.

By June 1991, 600 beds at the new Limon facility and 376 beds at the new Denver Regional Diagnostic Center will come on line providing a total capacity of 7,486 beds. However, through attrition of obsolete facilities and the return of out-of-state inmates, the projected population will be 7,537 resulting in a backlog of 51 beds.

New facilities proposed by the DOC are outlined below:

- Denver Regional Diagnostic Center (DRDC) to provide 376 new beds (including double-bunked beds) in FY 90-91;
- Limon Correctional Facility to provide 600 new beds (including double-bunked beds) in FY 90-91;
- 240 additional beds at the Limon Correctional Facility in FY 92-93;
- a new special needs facility at the Colorado State Hospital (CSH) with 250 beds in FY 92-93;
- a new women's facility (presumably in Denver) with 160 beds in FY 92-93; and
- new facilities authorized by S.B. 6 to provide 975 new medium and/or minimum security beds by FY 93-94.

With these proposals for increasing capacity, other beds gained and lost through implementing a 25 percent double-bunking policy, and the elimination of older facilities (e.g., modulars), the DOC expects to almost break even on prison population vs. prison capacity by 1995. DOC figures show a surplus of 129 beds at the end of FY 94.

The DOC anticipates funding for the above proposed facilities to come from the following sources:

- DRDC beds -- H.B. 1274 (lotto) -- already funded;
- new Limon Correctional Facility -- H.B. 1274 (lotto) -- already funded;
- Limon expansion -- H.B. 1274 possible funding from lotto;
- CSH beds -- H.B. 1274 possible funding from lotto;
- new women's facility -- funding not specified; and
- two new medium and/or minimum security facilities -- funding under S.B. 6 from excess general fund revenues.

In making recommendations to the CDC, the interim committee considered the following:

- the five-year bed implementation plan shows the greatest current capacity and capacity need at the medium security level.
- there is uncertainty about the availability of lotto proceeds to adequately fund all of the proposed projects;
- while the DOC assumes new funding must be found for a new women's facility, that facility could be one of the two facilities authorized by S.B. 6;
- while the DOC assumes lotto proceeds will fund a new CSH facility, that facility could also be one of the two facilities authorized by S.B. 6; and
- implementation of the five-year bed plan incorporating all DOC proposals will only keep prison population numbers even with prison capacity numbers.

In response to a request from the Capital Development Committee for its views on establishing priorities for new correctional facilities, the committee recommended funding for 240 expanded beds at Limon, a new 250 bed mental health needs facility at CSH, and 160 new women's beds in Denver.

Bills Recommended by the Committee

Preparole Programs

The need exists for facilities in which inmates can be housed prior to parole in order to prepare them for life in the community. Such facilities will be operated by the DOC and be categorized as correctional facilities rather than community-based facilities. Inmates in preparole facilities will remain in the custody of the DOC and not be allowed movement in the community though they will be placed, under security, in the community and have contact with the community.

Preparole programs will serve inmates who are within 90 days of parole and have been rejected from or are ineligible for a community corrections program. These inmates (sex offenders, assaultive offenders, and offenders requiring mental health treatment) sometimes present a risk to the public and would normally be released directly from prison with no preparation for reintegration into the community.

Preparole programs are more structured than community corrections, providing drug and alcohol treatment if necessary, training in life skills, counseling, and prerelease planning. The facilities will be operated by the DOC, and communities would submit applications for such facilities, as is the case with other correctional facilities.

The first priority for the committee is a bill allowing the DOC to contract for parole facilities incorporating the above features. A point of discussion for the committee was a method by which the community can know and express concern about what offenders are in the facility. The bill includes a provision directing the DOC to consult with the local community corrections board on the facility location, program design, and facility population. If the board disagrees with any point, it may submit a petition with 500 signatures for a public hearing so the governing body can approve or disapprove the location, design, or population of the parole program within its jurisdiction.

Alternatives to Sentencing

The status of several alternatives to incarceration such as intensive supervision probation, home detention, community corrections and regimented inmate discipline programs was reviewed. The committee's second and fourth priorities are community corrections revisions and regimented inmate discipline programs, respectively.

The current number of community beds is 580. The number of available beds is expected to increase each year by approximately ten percent. One problem is that the number of offenders eligible for community corrections placement may, and often does, exceed the number of available beds. Community boards have stringent standards for who they accept in programs and often reject offenders who are eligible for community placement. When available community beds are not filled to capacity, providers, who are paid on a per bed basis, lose money. As a result, programs such as vocational training or counseling are lacking.

Another problem which hinders the growth of community corrections programs is that the current reimbursement rate to providers is lower than it was in FY 1986-87, when it was $27 per day per bed. The current rate is $26 per day per bed and the Community Corrections Coalition, as well as the DCJ, who administers community corrections programs, advocates raising the rate to $27 to $30 per day per bed. The committee makes no recommendation regarding a higher rate but does recommend a bill which combines all community-based programs into one department.

The committee's second priority is a bill which creates a Division of Community-Based Corrections within the Department of Public Safety. The newly created division is responsible for all probation, parole, community corrections, and intensive supervision programs for adults. The bill clarifies that: a) the primary responsibility of the DOC is the operation of secure facilities; b) that the primary responsibility of the Judicial Department is the provision of presentence services and the imposition of sentences; and c) that the primary responsibility of the DPS is for all offenders placed in community-based correctional programs, i.e., probation, parole, intensive supervision, and community corrections.

Anticipated results of the newly created division are increased efficiency of the administration of community-based correctional services, lower costs associated with the administration of those services, and giving communities providing community-based services greater control over the offenders placed in such programs as well as enhancing the safety of the community in which those offenders are placed.

Drugs and Crime

The committee was charged with studying the connection between drug use and crime, the prevalence of drugs in the correctional system, the use of illicit drugs by pregnant women, and the extent to which drug tests are utilized on probationers.

The committee received testimony from a variety of sources on the connection between drugs, drug use, and crime. The DOC reviewed its testing policies and treatment programs and advocated funding for more space in intensive treatment programs.

The Judicial Department reported that drug-related charges increased from 1,299 filings in 1984 to 3,956 filings in 1989. In response to this increase in drug-related cases, the Judicial Department will implement new case management plans.

Drug treatment programs are also a concern of the Judicial Department. Because of the increase in case filings related to drugs, there was a 21 percent increase in the probation population in 1988. As a result, 65 to 70 percent of probationers need some sort of drug treatment.

The Judicial Department reported it does not have adequate resources to test each probationer, though the courts have expanded testing and treatment. When probationers test positive for drugs or alcohol, the court has the option of sending them back to prison or to treatment. Again, there is a shortage of program beds and a need for additional intensive treatment program beds.

A doctor from Denver General Hospital and an associate professor in pediatrics at University Hospital testified regarding problems associated with infants born to drug-dependent mothers. National statistics indicate that 10-12 percent of all infants are born to mothers who are addicted to illegal drugs or alcohol. Denver reports seven to eight percent of all infants born in Denver are born to mothers who have abused illegal drugs or alcohol. Legal aspects of sanctions against pregnant women who abuse drugs or alcohol involve many resources and disciplines and must be given careful thought.

The committee also discussed a bill from the 1989 legislative session, H.B. 1095, containing revisions to the Uniform Controlled Substances Act. The bill amends the analog schedules of drugs and gives the State Board of Pharmacy the authority to add substances to, delete substances from, and reschedule substances without going through the statutory revision procedure of the General Assembly. The authority is necessary in order to prosecute cases in which the compound of the illegal substance confiscated does not exactly match the compound listed in the schedules. The bill was not adopted during the 1989 legislative session but will be reintroduced in 1990 by a non-committee member with the committee's endorsement.

The committee considered four other bills regarding drugs:

- a comprehensive drug testing bill which would require health care professionals, professional athletes, school bus drivers, teachers, certain driver's license applicants, state employees and others to submit to drug tests. The bill also contains a provision extending child abuse sanctions against pregnant women abusing drugs or alcohol. In addition, the bill provides for enhanced penalties for use or distribution of drugs in or near schools;
- a bill which contains, as its sole provision, enhanced penalties for possession or distribution of drugs in or near schools; and
- a bill which would require that the DOC provide drug and alcohol treatment programs for inmates needing treatment as determined by the DOC's diagnostic center. Participation in such treatment programs would be a determining factor in receiving earned time deductions from a sentence.

The fourth drug bill is the third priority for the committee. The bill concerns substance abuse in the criminal justice system and requires weekly drug and alcohol screening tests for all probationers, parolees, inmates, and community corrections clients. Anyone testing positive is required to undergo treatment and, in some cases, could suffer some sort of sanction, such as loss of 15 days good time in the case of inmates and revocation of probation or parole for a third positive test. The cost of the test is to be borne by the offender, and provisions are made for exemptions from the tests when the supervising officer reports that the tests are not necessary for the offender.

The bill also creates, within the Division of Criminal Justice, the Commission on the Elimination of Substance Abuse in the Criminal Justice System, consisting of 21 members. The commission is responsible for studying and making recommendations regarding: programs and policies to better utilize resources to fight substance abuse in the criminal justice system; sanctions and treatment for the use of drugs and alcohol by offenders in the criminal justice system; developing programs improving the cost benefits of treatment programs or sanctions; and the recidivism rate of offenders leaving the criminal justice system.

Boot Camp

The fourth priority for the committee is also an alternative to sentencing -- regimented inmate discipline or "boot camp" programs. The General Assembly has considered bills to establish boot camp programs in previous sessions but has not adopted any of the proposals. After hearing about the success of a program in Texas, the committee recommends a bill that allows the DOC to develop a boot camp program and set up standards for its operation. The intent of the program is to reduce prison overcrowding by diverting first-time, low-risk prison offenders to the program in which the offender will benefit from personal development and self-discipline.

The program lasts 90 days and will serve no more than 100 offenders at a time and no more than 400 per year. Eligible inmates must be between 18 and 25 years of age, must not have served a previous sentence, and must be a non-violent offender. Offenders are assigned to the program by the executive director of the DOC. The program focuses on physical training and discipline, educational, vocational, and job seeking skills, and drug and alcohol education and treatment.

Fiscal Impact of Proposed Legislation

The estimated fiscal impact of the proposed legislation is as follows:

Authorization of the Department of Corrections to Contract for Preparole Facilities and Programs. (Version B)

Fiscal Impact: Yes

This bill authorizes the DOC to contract for facilities and programs for up to 300 beds at up to $44 per day per bed, and requires the department to establish standards and regulations for the same. (This version includes a provision that allows local jurisdictions to approve or disapprove the location of this type of facility in the jurisdiction. This provision is not expected to have a significant cost although there may be some hearing costs at the local level related to this provision.)

$$300 \text{ beds} \times $44/\text{day} \times 365 \text{ days} = $4,818,000$$

This represents an annual cost that will begin in FY 1991. The $44 rate will be in statute and any adjustment will require legislative action.

Concerning Community-Based Corrections.

Fiscal Impact: Yes, with a net impact of zero dollars

Fiscal impact occurs for individual departments affected by the transfer of programs, either by decreasing appropriations to the Judicial Department and the Department of Corrections, or by increasing resources appropriated to the Department of Public Safety. The intent of this bill is assumably to combine the resources currently appropriated for parole, probation, community corrections, and intensive supervision into one program that will perform all of the duties of the various programs. With that assumption, the net fiscal impact to the state will be zero dollars. The fiscal note assumes that all of these current programs are adequately funded. This preliminary assessment does not include responses from all affected departments. Further, how the consolidation of programs will affect administrative costs, such as leased space, computer lines, telephone services, etc., is not known.

Concerning the Elimination of Substance Abuse in the Criminal Justice System.

Fiscal Impact: Yes

The bill has a significant fiscal impact because it requires increased testing (assumes $2 per test) and additional treatment beds (340), prison beds (100), probation officers (102.5 FTE), and treatment staff (10 FTE). The operation of the new commission will incur some costs. The appropriation clauses show general fund appropriations totalling $19.7 million. These preliminary estimates were prepared by the Division of Criminal Justice (DCJ) when the bill only referred to drug tests. DCJ indicates that the second year costs could be $12.7 million. Because alcohol is added as a substance for which drug testing is performed, the estimated costs will probably increase. The assumed price per drug test will probably increase, as well as the number of treatment beds, prison beds, and probation officers. Further estimates have not been completed at this time.

Regimented Inmate Discipline and Treatment Program.

Fiscal Impact: Yes

The Department of Corrections determined that in FY 1989, 657 of inmates received would have met requirements for assignment to this type of program. Costs are shown for two options:

1) If the intent of the bill is construction of such a facility, the costs are:

Construction (100-beds)	$ 5,391,800
Annual operating costs	$1,604,300	35.0 FTE

The following assumptions are applied: construction on DOC property in Canon City; food prep and storage off-site; no on-site laundry, mail room, segregation cells, or recreation; limited staff facilities; reduced clinical services area due to location; operating costs assume administration under an existing facility; staffing at modular formula of 17 staff per 50 inmates plus 1.0 FTE due to intensive nature of program; operating cost formula of $2,473/inmate plus $360 for clothing per turnover of inmates; and program services contracted at formula of $2,210 per average daily attendance. Also, construction and operating costs would be higher at locations other than Canon City because of need for additional support space.

2) If the department were to use an existing facility such as Skyline or Four Mile, the number of inmates in the correctional system would not change. However, the change to the boot camp concept would require increased personnel and operating costs:

Personal Services (8.0 FTE)	$240,000
Operating Expenses (additional clothing)	36,000
Contract Services (intensive D&A counseling)	221,000
	$497,000

Other options, such as acquiring existing facilities, are not addressed here since it is not known what is available.

Other Topics Considered

The committee endorses three other bills to be introduced during the 1990 legislative session by non-committee members. The first bill (previously mentioned) concerns the prevention of the illegal use of controlled substances and amends the Colorado Controlled Substances Act.

The second bill concerns the protection of confidential informants. The bill creates the crime (a class 2 petty offense) of revealing the identity of a confidential informant. Under the bill, a person who is physically injured or sustains property damage because of his role as a confidential informant is allowed to collect damages via civil suit. In maintaining the protection of confidential informants, the publication or broadcast of names of confidential informants is prohibited without the informant's permission. The bill will be sponsored during the 1990 legislative session by Senator Sally Hopper.

The third bill creates the "Workplace Drug and Alcohol Testing Act," which permits employers to test employees for drugs and alcohol. The bill is a comprehensive substance abuse bill which would require health care professionals, professional athletes, school bus drivers, teachers, certain driver's license applicants, state employees and others to submit to drug tests. A provision is included extending child abuse sanctions against pregnant women abusing drugs or alcohol. In addition, the bill provides for enhanced penalties for possession or distribution of drugs in or near schools. The bill, to be introduced during the 1990 legislative session by Representative Phil Pankey, also imposes a tax upon solid waste disposal with the proceeds to go to the Judicial Department to implement certain portions of the bill.

Recommendations to Capital Development Committee

The committee deliberated on the following additional matters at the request of the Capital Development Committee.

- Sentencing. The committee makes no recommendations regarding sentencing and suggests that a committee with the time and resources to undertake an in-depth study of sentencing, such as the Criminal Justice Commission, do so. It is anticipated that the commission will resolve itself into a sentencing commission with the sole purpose of recommending changes in sentencing.
- Classification. The committee recommends no changes in the current classification instrument. Despite studies which show the DOC's current classification instrument produces a high rate of overrides (those inmates who are classified in a higher security level than necessary), the committee heard that the DOC implemented a new instrument in May 1989 which has lessened that problem. Further, the committee does not believe it is appropriate to alter the classification instrument for the sole purpose of moving inmates into certain security levels in order to meet space availability.
- Facilities. The committee suggests the following priorities in determining which additional correctional facilities should be funded and constructed: 1) a 300-bed expansion of the new Limon facility; 2) a 250-bed special needs facility for inmates with mental health treatment needs at the Colorado State Hospital in Pueblo; and 3) a new 160-bed women's correctional facility in Denver. According to the DOC, if certain changes to the sentencing structure are made and the three priorities listed above are funded, there will be no need for additional minimum or medium security correctional facilities in the near future.

7 operated by the department of corrections, to enhance the 8 safety of the public by providing standardized levels of 9 supervision for offenders placed in community-based 10 correctional programs, to clarify that the primary 11 responsibility of the department of corrections is the 6 corrections.

7 24-33.5-1505. Effective date of part 15 - phased in 8 effective date of parts 16 to 19. (1) This part 15 shall 9 take effect July 1, 1990.

11 probation under his supervision a written statement of the 12 conditions of probation and shall instruct him regarding the 13 same. The officer shall keep informed concerning the conduct 14 and condition of each person on probation under his 15 supervision and shall report thereon to the court at such 16 times as it directs. Such officers shall use all suitable 17 methods, not inconsistent with the conditions imposed by the 18 court, to aid persons on probation and to bring about 19 improvement in their conduct and condition. Each officer 20 shall keep records of his work; shall keep accurate and 21 complete accounts of all moneys collected from persons under 22 his supervision; shall give receipts therefor and shall make 23 at least monthly returns thereof into the registry of the 24 court or as he may be ordered; shall make such reports to the 25 court as are required; and shall perform such other duties as 26 the court may direct.

27 (2) Any probationer, on probation as a result of a

1 conviction of any felony except a class 1 felony, who is under 2 the supervision of a probation officer pursuant to this part
3 16 and who is initially tested for the illegal or unauthorized

8 (b) An immediate increase in the level of supervision,
9 including but not limited to intensive supervision;

10 (c) Random screenings for the detection of the illegal
11 or unauthorized use of a controlled substance, which use may 12 serve as the basis for additional punishment or any other 13 community placement;

14 (d) Referral to a substance abuse treatment program.

15 (3) If any probationer described in subsection (2) of 16 this section is subjected to a second or subsequent test for

19 shall take one or more of the following actions:

21 (b) Seek a probation revocation in accordance with 22 sections 16-11-205 and 16-11-206;

5 parole to the department of public safety. (1) On and after 6 the effective date of this part 17 specified in section
7 24-33.5-1505 (2), the authority to execute, administer, 8 perform, and enforce the rights, powers, duties, functions, 9 and obligations vested in the division of adult services in 10 the department of corrections concerning parole supervision
11 pursuant to part 1 of article 2 of title 17, C.R.S., as it 12 existed prior to said date, shall be transferred to the 13 department of public safety to be administered by the division 14 of community-based corrections created by part 15 of this 15 article. On and after the effective date of this part 17 16 specified in section 24-33.5-1505 (2), the authority to 17 execute, administer, perform, and enforce the rights, powers, 18 duties, functions, and obligations vested in the department of 19 corrections concerning the administration of the interstate 20 compact for parolee supervision described in part 3 of article
21 60 of title 24, C.R.S., as it existed prior to said date, 22 shall be transferred to the judicial department. On and after 23 the effective date of this part 17 specified in section
24 24-33.5-1505 (2), any officers or employees of the department 25 of corrections whose primary duties and functions within the 26 department of corrections concerned the duties and functions 27 transferred to the department of public safety pursuant to

1 this section and whose employment in the department of public 2 safety is deemed necessary by the executive director of the 3 department of public safety to carry out the purposes of this 4 article shall be transferred to the department of public 5 safety and become employees thereof. Such employees shall 6 retain all rights to retirement benefits pursuant to the laws 7 of this state, and their services shall be deemed to have been 8 continuous.

9 (2) On the effective date of this part 17 specified in 10 section 24-33.5-1505 (2), all items of property, real and 11 personal, including office furniture and fixtures, books, 12 documents, and records of the department of corrections prior 13 to said date pertaining to the duties and functions
14 transferred to the department of public safety pursuant to 15 this section are transferred to the department of public 16 safety and become the property thereof.

17 (3) Whenever the department of corrections is referred 18 to or designated by a contract or other document in connection 19 with the duties and functions transferred to the department of 20 public safety pursuant to this section, such reference or 21 designation shall be deemed to apply to the department of 22 public safety. All contracts entered into by the department 23 of corrections prior to the effective date of this part 17 24 specified in section 24-33.5-1505 (2) in connection with the 25 duties and functions transferred to the department of public 26 safety pursuant to this section are hereby validated, with the 27 department of public safety succeeding to all the rights and

1 obligations of such contracts. Any appropriations of funds
2 from prior fiscal years open to satisfy obligations incurred 3 pursuant to such contracts are hereby transferred and 4 appropriated to the department of public safety for the 5 payment of such obligations.

6 24-33.5-1702. Community corrections services - contract 7 rights - transferred to the department of public safety. On 8 and after July 1, 1989, all contracts to provide community
9 corrections services not provided directly by the department 10 of corrections, and appropriations to carry out such 11 contracts, shall be transferred to the department of public 12 safety.

13 24-33.5-1703. Legislative intent regarding parole. The 14 general assembly hereby finds and declares that the primary 15 consideration for any decision to grant parole shall be the 16 public safety. The general assembly further finds and 17 declares that, since parole is a privilege granted by the 18 general assembly and not a right guaranteed under the state or 19 federal constitutions, if the parolee violates the conditions 20 of his parole, that privilege may be revoked.

21 24-33.5-1704. Adult parole - general powers, duties, and 22 functions of the division of community-based corrections of 23 the department of public safety. (1) The department of 24 public safety, division of community-based corrections, shall 25 administer the adult parole program. The executive director 26 of the department of public safety shall assign the duty of 27 supervising adults on parole to the division of

1 community-based corrections created pursuant to part 15 of 2 this article. The division of community-based corrections 3 shall keep a complete record with respect to all domestic as 4 well as interstate parolees. The director of the division of 5 community-based corrections or his designee shall exercise the 6 power of suspension of paroles in the interim of the meetings 7 of the state board of parole, and, in connection therewith, he 8 or his designee may arrest such suspended parolee without 9 warrant and return the parolee to the institution from whence 10 he was paroled, there to await the further action of the state 11 board of parole. In case of such suspension of parole, the 12 state court administrator or his designee shall send to the 13 state board of parole, at its first session thereafter, a 14 transcript of all proceedings taken in connection with such 15 suspension and the reasons for the suspension.

16 (2) The director of the division of community-based 17 corrections, pursuant to the provisions of section 13 of 18 article XII of the state constitution, shall appoint such 19 officers and employees as may be necessary to properly 20 supervise all adult parolees released from any state penal or 21 correctional institution together with such other persons as 22 are accepted for supervision under the interstate compact.

23 (3) All officers and employees of the division of 24 community-based corrections involved in supervising adult 25 parolees shall be reimbursed for all necessary expenses
26 incurred by them in the performance of their official duties
27 at such rates and in such amounts as shall be allowed state

1 employees under the rules and regulations promulgated by the 2 controller.

3 (4) A person is eligible for the position of parole
4 officer if he is at least twenty-one years of age. Such 5 person shall be selected because of definite qualifications as 6 to character, ability, experience, and training; he shall be 7 of known devotion to criminal rehabilitation; and he shall 8 have the capacity and ability for influencing adult human 9 behavior. He shall be a person likely to exercise a strong 10 and helpful influence upon persons placed under his 11 supervision. The enumeration of qualifications in this 12 subsection (4) is not exclusive, but the director of the 13 division of community-based corrections, by rule or 14 regulation, may add to such qualifications from time to time 15 as experience may justify.

16 (5) The director of the division of community-based 17 corrections or his designee is authorized to deputize any 18 person regularly employed by the state of Colorado, or any 19 person regularly employed by another state, to act as an 20 officer and agent of this state in effecting the return of any 21 person who has violated the terms and conditions of parole or 22 probation as granted by this state. In any matter relating to 23 the return of such a person, any agent so deputized shall have 24 all the powers of a police official of this state and shall 25 carry written evidence of his deputization and shall produce 26 the same upon demand. The director of the division of 27 community-based corrections or his designee is authorized to

1 enter into contracts with the appropriate officials of any 2 other state, subject to the approval of the governor and 3 controller, for the purpose of sharing an equitable portion of 4 the cost of effecting the return of any person who has 5 violated the terms and conditions of parole or probation as 6 granted by this state.

7 (6) (a) Any parolee, on parole as a result of a 8 conviction of any felony, who is under the supervision of the 9 division of community-based corrections pursuant to this part
10 17 and who is initially tested for the illegal or unauthorized 11 use of a controlled substance and the result of such test is 12 positive shall be subject to any or all of the following 13 actions:

- 14 (I) An immediate warrantless arrest;
- 15 (II) An immediate increase in the level of supervision,
16 including but not limited to intensive supervision;
- 17 (III) Random screenings for the detection of the illegal
18 or unauthorized use of a controlled substance, which use may 19 serve as the basis for any other community placement;
- 20 (IV) Referral to a substance abuse treatment program.

21 (b) If any parolee described in paragraph (a) of this 22 subsection (6) is subjected to a second or subsequent test for 23 the illegal or unauthorized use of a controlled substance and 24 the result of such test is positive, the parole officer shall 25 take one or more of the following actions:

- 26 (I) Make an immediate warrantless arrest;
- 27 (II) Seek a parole revocation in accordance with section

1 24-33.5-1705;

2 (III) Immediately increase the level of supervision,
3 including but not limited to intensive supervision;

4 (IV) Increase the number of drug screenings for the 5 illegal or unauthorized use of controlled substances;

6 (V) Refer the parolee to a substance abuse treatment 7 program.

8 (7) Subject to available appropriations, the director of 9 the division of community-based corrections or his designee is 10 authorized to establish and maintain an information unit which 11 includes an appropriate telecommunications system for the 12 purpose of providing to law enforcement agencies upon their 13 request accurate supervision information concerning any 14 parolee who is currently under the jurisdiction of the 15 division of community-based corrections. Such information
16 shall include the parolee's current status with the division
17 of community-based corrections and the name of the parolee's 18 parole officer.

19 24-33.5-1705. Arrest of parolee - revocation 20 proceedings. (1) The director of the division of 21 community-based corrections or his designee or any parole 22 officer may arrest any parolee when:

23 (a) He has a warrant commanding that such parolee be 24 arrested; or

25 (b) He has probable cause to believe that a warrant for 26 the parolee's arrest has been issued in this state or another 27 state for any criminal offense or for violation of a condition

1 of parole; or

2 (c) Any offense under the laws of this state has been or 3 is being committed by the parolee in his presence; or 4 (d) He has probable cause to believe that a crime has 5 been committed and that the parolee has committed such crime; 6 or

7 (e) He has probable cause to believe that the parolee 8 has violated a condition of his parole or probable cause to 9 believe that the parolee is leaving or about to leave the 10 state, or that the parolee will fail or refuse to appear 11 before the state board of parole to answer charges of 12 violations of one or more conditions of parole, or that the 13 arrest of the parolee is necessary to prevent physical harm to 14 the parolee or another person or to prevent the commission of 15 a crime.

16 (f) The parolee, who is on parole as a result of a 17 conviction of any felony, has been tested for the illegal or 18 unauthorized use of a controlled substance and the result of 19 such test is positive.

20 (2) (a) A state board of parole hearing relating to the 21 revocation of parole shall be held, at the discretion of the 22 administrative law judge or of the state board of parole, in 23 the courthouse of the county in which the alleged violation 24 occurred, in the county of the parolee's confinement, or in 25 the county of the parolee's residence if not confined.

26 (b) In all hearings relating to revocation of parole, 27 one member of the state board of parole or an administrative

1 law judge appointed by the chairperson of the state board of 2 parole shall hear the case to a conclusion, unless the 3 chairperson of the state board of parole assigns another state 4 board of parole member or administrative law judge due to the 5 illness or unavailability of the first state board of parole 6 member or administrative law judge. The parolee may appeal to 7 two members of the state board of parole. Such appeal shall 8 be on the record.

9 (c) At evidentiary hearings concerning revocation of 10 parole, the district attorney of the county in which the 11 hearing is held may be in attendance to present the case.

12 (d) At all hearings before the administrative law judge 13 or the state board of parole which are held outside of the 14 institution to which the parolee is sentenced, it is the duty
15 of the county sheriff to provide for the safety of all persons 16 present. All counties shall make available in their respective 17 courthouses sufficient room to conduct parole revocation 18 proceedings.

19 (e) All votes of the state board of parole at any 20 hearing or appeal held pursuant to this section shall be 21 recorded by member and shall be a public record open to 22 inspection and shall be subject to the provisions of part 3 of 23 article 72 of title 24, C.R.S.

24 (3) (a) Whenever a parole officer has reasonable grounds 25 to believe that a condition of parole has been violated by any 26 parolee, he may issue a summons requiring the parolee to 27 appear before the state board of parole at a specified time

1 and place to answer charges of violation of one or more
2 conditions of parole. Such summons shall be accompanied by a 3 copy of the complaint filed before the state board of parole
4 seeking revocation of parole. Willful failure of the parolee 5 to appear before the state board of parole as required by such 6 summons is a violation of a condition of parole.

7 (b) A parole officer may request that the state board of 8 parole issue a warrant for the arrest of a parolee for 9 violation of the conditions of his parole by filing a 10 complaint with the state board of parole showing probable 11 cause to believe that the parolee has violated a condition of 12 his parole. Such warrant may be executed by any peace 13 officer, as defined in section 18-1-901 (3) (1), C.R.S.

14 (4) If, rather than issuing a summons, a parole officer 15 makes an arrest of a parolee, with or without a warrant, or 16 the parolee is otherwise arrested, the parolee shall be held 17 in a county jail pending action by the parole officer pursuant 18 to subsection (5) of this section.

19 (5) Not later than ten working days after the arrest of 20 any parolee, as provided in subsection (4) of this section, 21 the parole officer shall complete his investigation and 22 either:

23 (a) File a complaint before the state board of parole in 24 which the facts are alleged upon which a revocation of parole 25 is sought; or

26 (b) Order the release of the parolee and request that 27 any warrant be quashed, that any complaint be dismissed, and

1 that the parole be restored; or

2 (c) Order the release of the parolee and issue a summons 3 requiring the parolee to appear before the state board of 4 parole at a specified time and place to answer charges of 5 violation of one or more conditions of parole; or

6 (d) File a violation report to the state board of parole 7 citing facts relating to alleged violations of the terms and 8 conditions of parole. The report may include a recommendation 9 to continue parole supervision and may recommend modifications 10 to parole terms and conditions. If such modifications are 11 recommended, a statement regarding objection or approval of 12 the modifications shall be signed by the parolee and included 13 in the report.

14 (6) (a) Any complaint filed by the parole officer in 15 which revocation of parole is sought shall contain the name of 16 the parolee and his department of corrections number, identify 17 the nature of the charges which are alleged to justify 18 revocation of his parole, the substance of the evidence 19 sustaining the charges, and the condition of parole alleged to 20 have been violated, including the date and approximate
21 location thereof, together with the signature of the parole
22 officer. A copy thereof shall be given to the parolee a 23 reasonable length of time before any parole board hearing.

24 (b) At any time after the filing of a complaint, the 25 state court administrator or his designee may cause the 26 revocation proceedings to be dismissed by giving written 27 notification of his decision for such dismissal to the

1 administrative law judge or the state board of parole, the 2 parole officer, and the parolee. Upon receipt of such 3 notification, the parole officer shall order the release of 4 the parolee pursuant to subsection (5) of this section, and 5 parole shall be restored.

6 (c) The filing of a complaint by the parole officer 7 tolls the expiration of the parolee's parole.

8 (7) If the parolee is in custody pursuant to subsection 9 (4) of this section, or the parolee was arrested and then 10 released pursuant to paragraph (c) of subsection (5) of this 11 section, the hearing on revocation shall be held within a 12 reasonable time, not to exceed thirty days after the parolee 13 was arrested; except that the state board of parole or the 14 administrative law judge may grant a delay when the state 15 board of parole or the administrative law judge finds good 16 cause to exist therefor. If the parolee was issued a summons, 17 the final hearing shall be held within thirty working days
18 from the date the summons was issued; except that the state 19 board of parole or the administrative law judge may grant a 20 delay when the state board of parole or the administrative law 21 judge finds good cause to exist therefor. The state board of 22 parole shall notify the sheriff, the parole officer, and the 23 parolee of the date, time, and place of such hearing. It 24 shall be the responsibility of the sheriff to assure the 25 presence of the parolee being held in custody at the time and 26 place of the hearing and to provide for the safety of all 27 present.

1 (8) Prior to the appearance of a parolee before the 2 state board of parole or the administrative law judge, he 3 shall be advised in writing by the state court administrator 4 or his designee concerning the nature of the charges which are 5 alleged to justify revocation of his parole and the substance
 6 of the evidence sustaining the charges; he shall be given a 7 copy of the complaint unless he has already received one; he 8 shall be informed of the consequences which may follow in the 9 event that his parole is revoked; and he shall be advised 10 that, if the charges are denied by him, a full and final 11 hearing will be held before the state board of parole or an 12 administrative law judge, that, at such hearing, he will be 13 required to plead guilty or not guilty to the charges 14 contained in the complaint, that he may be represented by an 15 attorney, and that he may testify and present witnesses and 16 documentary evidence in defense of the charges or in 17 mitigation or explanation thereof. The hearing may be 18 continued by the state board of parole or the administrative 19 law judge upon a showing of good cause.

20 (9) (a) In the event of a plea of not guilty, the 21 director of the division of community-based corrections or his 22 designee, at the final hearing before the state board of 23 parole or the administrative law judge, shall have the burden 24 of establishing by a preponderance of the evidence the 25 violation of a condition of parole; except that the commission 26 of a criminal offense must be established beyond a reasonable 27 doubt, unless the parolee has been convicted thereof in a

1 criminal proceeding. When it appears that the alleged 2 violation of a condition or conditions of parole consists of 3 an offense with which the parolee is charged in a criminal 4 case then pending, testimony given before the state board of 5 parole or the administrative law judge in a parole revocation
 6 proceeding shall not be admissible in such criminal proceeding 7 before a court. When, in a parole revocation hearing, the 8 alleged violation of a condition of parole is the parolee's 9 failure to pay court-ordered compensation to appointed 10 counsel, probation fees, court costs, restitution, or 11 reparations, evidence of the failure to pay shall constitute 12 prima facie evidence of a violation. The state board of 13 parole or the administrative law judge shall revoke the parole 14 if requested to do so by the parolee. Any evidence having 15 probative value shall be admissible in all proceedings related 16 to a parole violation complaint, regardless of its 17 admissibility under the exclusionary rules of evidence, if the 18 parolee is accorded a fair opportunity to rebut hearsay 19 evidence. The parolee shall have the right to confront and to 20 cross-examine adverse witnesses, unless the administrative law
 21 judge or the state board of parole specifically finds good 22 cause for not allowing confrontation of an informer.

23 (b) If the parolee has been convicted of a criminal 24 offense while on parole, the state board of parole or the 25 administrative law judge shall accept said conviction as 26 conclusive proof of a violation and shall conduct a hearing as 27 to the disposition of the parole only.

1 (10) If the state board of parole or the administrative 2 law judge determines that a violation of a condition or 3 conditions of parole has been committed, the state board of 4 parole or administrative law judge shall, within five working 5 days after the completion of the final hearing, either revoke
 6 the parole or continue it in effect, or modify the conditions 7 of parole if circumstances then shown to exist require such 8 modifications. If parole is revoked, the state board of 9 parole or the administrative law judge shall serve upon the 10 parolee a written statement as to the evidence relied on and 11 the reasons for revoking parole. In the event that parole is 12 revoked, the state board of parole or the administrative law 13 judge shall cause the parolee to be transported to a place of 14 confinement designated by the executive director of the 15 department of corrections. Said transportation shall be 16 furnished by the sheriff of the county in which the hearing 17 was held.

18 (11) The state board of parole, if it receives a 19 violation report as described in paragraph (d) of subsection 20 (5) of this section, shall respond within ten working days to 21 the report by agreeing to the recommendation to continue 22 parole with or without the modifications of the terms and 23 conditions recommended. If the state board of parole rejects 24 the recommendation to continue parole, it shall proceed with a 25 revocation hearing within thirty working days after receipt of 26 the report.

27 (12) Notwithstanding any provision of this section, a

1 parole officer shall file a complaint seeking revocation of 2 the parole of any parolee who is found in possession of a
 3 deadly weapon as defined in section 18-1-901 (3) (e), C.R.S., 4 or of any parolee who is arrested and charged with a felony, a 5 crime of violence as defined in section 16-1-104 (8.5), 6 C.R.S., a misdemeanor assault involving a deadly weapon or 7 resulting in bodily injury to the victim, or sexual assault in 8 the third degree as defined in section 18-3-404, C.R.S. If 9 the administrative law judge or the member of the state board 10 of parole conducting the hearing pursuant to this subsection 11 (12) finds the parolee guilty of the conduct charged but 12 decides against revoking the parole of the parolee, the record 13 of such hearing shall be reviewed within fifteen days after 14 the decision by two members of the state board of parole, 15 exclusive of the board member who conducted the hearing, who 16 may overturn the decision and order the parole to be revoked.

17 (13) If the parole officer is informed by any law 18 enforcement agency that a parolee has been arrested for a 19 criminal offense and is being detained in the county jail, the 20 parole officer shall file a complaint alleging the criminal 21 offense as a violation of parole. The parole officer shall 22 advise the board of any pending criminal proceeding and shall 23 request that a parole revocation proceeding be deferred
 24 pending a disposition of the criminal charge.

25 24-33.5-1706. Revocation proceedings - parolee arrested 26 for certain offenses. (1) Notwithstanding any provision of 27 section 24-33.5-1705, a parole officer shall file a complaint

1 seeking revocation of the parole of any parolee who is found 2 in possession of a deadly weapon as defined in section
 3 18-1-901 (3) (e), C.R.S., or any parolee arrested and charged 4 with a felony, a crime of violence as defined in section
 5 16-1-104 (8.5), C.R.S., a misdemeanor assault involving a 6 deadly weapon or resulting in bodily injury to the victim, or 7 sexual assault in the third degree as defined in section 8 18-3-404, C.R.S. A hearing relating to such revocation shall 9 be held, unless the administrative law judge or board member 10 is advised that a criminal charge is still pending and no 11 technical violations are alleged, or where the parolee does 12 not request revocation, in which case the hearing shall be 13 delayed until a disposition concerning the criminal charge is 14 reached.

15 (2) If the hearing officer or board member conducting 16 the hearing pursuant to subsection (1) of this section finds 17 the parolee guilty of the conduct charged but decides against 18 revoking the parole of the parolee, the record of such hearing 19 shall be reviewed within fifteen days of the decision by two 20 members of the board, exclusive of the board member who 21 conducted the hearing, who may overturn the decision and order 22 the parole to be revoked.

23 24-33.5-1707. Records - reports - publications. The 24 office of the director of the division of community-based 25 corrections or his designee shall be maintained as a 26 clearinghouse for all information on domestic as well as 27 interstate parolees, and the director or his designee shall

1 prescribe, prepare, and furnish such forms, records, and 2 reports as shall be necessary to carry out this function.
 3 Such data and information so compiled shall not be considered 4 to be public records but shall be held to be confidential in 5 character.

6 PART 18

7 COMMUNITY CORRECTIONAL FACILITIES AND PROGRAMS

8 24-33.5-1801. Legislative declaration. (1) It is the 9 purpose of this part 18 to encourage flexibility in the 10 development of community correctional facilities and programs 11 by the division of community-based corrections, units of local 12 government, and nongovernmental agencies and to encourage the 13 use of such facilities and programs by sentencing courts. It 14 is the further purpose of this article to provide a procedure
 15 through which units of local government and nongovernmental

 17 community-based corrections and to sentencing courts.

18 (2) It is the intent of the general assembly that 19 community correctional facilities and programs be used to 20 protect the public safety by serving the following purposes:

 22 corrections by the courts, to provide a sentencing option and 23 to increase the potential for victim restitution and offender
 24 access to rehabilitation programs;

 26 corrections by the department of corrections for long-term 27 placement, to provide the least restrictive and least

1 expensive custodial setting for such offenders;

2 (c) With respect to other offenders transferred to 3 community corrections by the department of corrections for 4 short-term, prerelease placement, to provide programs to 5 effectuate the reintegration of such offenders into the 7 opportunity for transitional community placement before their 8 release from custody.

15 of local government may establish, maintain, and operate such 16 community correctional facilities and programs as it deems 17 necessary to serve the needs of the unit of local government 18 and offenders who are assigned by the department of 19 corrections to the facility or program pursuant to a contract 20 approved by the division of community-based corrections, or 21 offenders sentenced to the facility or program by a sentencing 22 court pursuant to a contract or agreement entered into between 23 the chief judge of the judicial district and the unit of local 24 government, and in accordance with section 24-33.5-1805. Any

 8 offenders in the agency's residential facility, if any such 9 facilities are maintained.

 11 or program has the authority to accept, reject, or reject

6 alternative or as a supplement to the correctional facilities
7 at Canon City and at Buena Vista for the custody, control, 8 care, and treatment of offenders which may be utilized by the 9 executive director of the department of corrections. For 10 those state facilities designed for community correctional 11 programs, the division of community-based corrections shall 12 obtain approval of the appropriate unit of local government, 13 which shall hold a public hearing thereon prior to any such 14 grant of approval.

15 (2) The director of the division of community-based 16 corrections shall have the power to establish and enforce 17 standards and regulations for all state-operated correctional 18 facilities and programs and shall require that each community

12 operated by a unit of local government or a nongovernmental 13 agency for a maximum of one hundred eighty days if the unit of 15 such participation.

16 24-33.5-1808. Restitution - contract provisions. (1) A 17 sentence, assignment, or transfer of an offender to a

21 contract or agreement with the agency in accordance with 22 applicable provisions of sections 17-2-201 and 17-26-128 and 23 article 28 of title 17, C.R.S. Such contracts or agreements 24 shall apply to, but are not limited to, offenders directly 25 sentenced to a community correctional facility or program and 26 to offenders transferred to such a facility or program from 27 the department of corrections. Such contracts or agreements

13 provide assistance in obtaining employment for program 14 participants.

15 24-33.5-1809. Escape from custody. If an offender fails

21 ordered by the executive director of the department of 22 corrections or the director of the division of community-based 23 corrections to return to the correctional institution, 24 neglects or fails to do so, he shall be deemed to have escaped
25 from custody and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished

21 supervision under section 24-33.5-1805 (1) (b) or cannot be 22 safely housed in that facility, the administrator or other 23 authority shall certify to the appropriate judicial or 24 executive authority the facts which are the basis for his 25 belief and execute a transfer order to any sheriff, 26 undersheriff, deputy sheriff, police officer, or state patrol 27 officer which authorizes said sheriff, undersheriff, deputy

1 sheriff, police officer, or state patrol officer to transport 2 the offender to the county jail in the county in which the 3 facility is located where he shall be confined pending a 4 determination by the appropriate court or executive

22 recommendation of the department if such offender has not more 23 than ninety days remaining until his established parole
24 release date or upon a transfer from a community corrections 25 residential program under part 18 of this article if such 26 offender has not more than one hundred twenty days remaining 27 until his parole release date and if the local community

1 corrections board finds that the correctional needs of such 2 offender will be better served by such supervision. The local 3 community corrections board has the authority to accept, 4 reject, or reject after acceptance the participation of any 5 offender in each and every intensive supervision program under 6 this part 19. In selecting offenders for transfer to an 7 intensive supervision program, the department of corrections

19 been incarcerated.

 6 officer the facts which are the basis for his belief and 7 execute a transfer order to the sheriff of the county in which 8 the program is being operated, who shall confine the offender
 9 in the county jail pending a determination by the supervising 10 parole officer as to whether or not the offender shall remain 11 in the program.

 5 granted parole or whose parole is modified may be required by 6 the state board of parole, as a condition of such parole, to
