Just as most of us were not always students, although sometimes it seems that way, Professor Emeritus Christopher H. Munch was not always a professor. Before coming to the University of Denver College of Law, he was an active Air Force lawyer for fifteen years and spent over four years in the Far East One as chief legal counsel for the Fifth Air Force in Korea in 1951-1952, the next three as chief legal counsel of the Thirteenth Air Force in the Philippines and six months as one of two legal counsel with a Philippine Base Negotiating Team. During his time in Korea and the Philippines, he was chairman of the area Air Force Foreign Claims Commission, which reviewed and decided awards of damages for harm to private property attributable to military activities. In the Philippine assignment, his legal staff also participated in labor negotiations with local unions, rescue and repatriation of foreign nationals, and negotiations for temporary site usage, conducted between the U.S. Embassy and the Philippine Foreign Office.

After completing his tour of duty in the Far East, Professor Munch was assigned as the first Permanent Professor of Law and Chairman of the Law Department at the then new Air Force Academy. While there, among other matters, he instituted a course in International Law as part of the International Relations major.

Professor Munch took a sabbatical leave from the Air Force Academy in 1966 and joined the faculty of the University of Denver College of Law as a visiting Professor of Law. The following June, he retired from the Air Force and was appointed as a full time faculty member at DU, where he taught for 25 years until his retirement in 1991. While he is, for all purposes, a retired (Emeritus) professor, he agreed to teach full time for the Fall Semester of 1992, at the request of the College of Law Administration. Totalling 26 years that he has taught, counselled and supported law students at DU. During that time, he has assiduously avoided teaching the international aspects of his subjects out of respect for the superior scholarship and expertise of our Director of International Legal Studies, his long time friend and colleague, Professor Ved Nanda. He attends the lectures, receptions and other social functions sponsored by the International Law Society over the years. We sincerely invite him to continue to do so.

The Denver Journal of International Law & Policy dedicates this issue to Professor Emeritus William M. Beaney.
