

1-1-2006

Magnificent Constitutionality

Gregory J. Hobbs

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.du.edu/wlr>

Part of the Law Commons

---

Custom Citation

Gregory J. Hobbs, Magnificent Constitutionality, 9 U. Denv. Water L. Rev. 607 (2006).

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the University of Denver Sturm College of Law at Digital Commons @ DU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Water Law Review by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @ DU. For more information, please contact jennifer.cox@du.edu, dig-commons@du.edu.

---

Magnificent Constitutionality

MAGNIFICENT CONSTITUTIONALITY

Politicians dither while people wither,
where are the men and women humble
enough to lead with the will to follow,
where is community?

The state of being free
is founded on the land itself,
air to breathe,
water conserved conscientiously,
a place for all.

If an ancient tree cannot be,
Nor salmon in the falls,
Nor tortoise to the desert,
Nor sage upon the open range,
Nor can we.

These rights we hold to be alienable
if not exercised frequently and expressly:
    To refrain from the pursuit of power,
        building others up instead of tearing down;
    To enjoy the blessings of the earth,
        without waste or desecration;
    To have sufficient space
        for cultivating plants, animals, healthy families;
    To dispense munificence,
        as a matter of the spirit not as an article of commerce;
    To generate energy, art, intellect,
        working and playing with and for each;
    To love and be loved,
        without abuse, joyously, unconditionally;
    To do our best to share
        with feeling our magnificent constitutionality;

We demand nothing,
we command less,
praying for guidance
we contribute and receive.