Average-Size Estate Problems Subject of May Institute

Besides their intrinsic value in improving the logic and justice of civil procedure, these amendments are necessary if Colorado is to achieve one of the basic goals for which the Rules were adopted in the first place—substantial uniformity in state and Federal practice. If no effort is made to accept and make effective worthwhile improvements in the system of civil procedure it inaugurated in 1941, Colorado will be neither a Rules nor a Code state, neither fish nor fowl.

While there has been some complaint as to the use and application of the Rules—or perhaps more accurately, their non-use—available evidence seems to indicate that the civil procedure provided in the Rules has met with satisfaction among the large majority of Colorado lawyers. Clearly, too, the Rules have increased the opportunity of the general public to obtain a closer approximation of real justice in our courts.

AVERAGE-SIZE ESTATE PROBLEMS SUBJECT OF MAY INSTITUTE

CHARLES H. HAINES, JR., AND COLLABORATORS of the Denver Bar

Emphasizing the lawyer-like handling of the average estate, another Denver Bar Association Institute will be held on two successive Tuesday evenings, May 16 and May 23, in the Chamber of Commerce Dining Room (again without dinner), 1726 Champa Street, beginning promptly at 8:00 p.m.

Judge C. Edgar Kettering of Denver's County Court will act as chairman and moderator of both sessions.

Subjects and speakers have been announced as follows:

May 16: Will Drafting for Average-Sized Estates (or, Brother, Skip the Trust)—Hubert D. Henry.

Simple Devices for the Transfer of Assets Without Administration (or, How Far Can You Go With a Bond and Affidavit?)—Merrill A. Knight.

May 23: Practical Problems in the Administration of Average Estates (or, Taxes Aren't Your Only Worry)—Barkley L. Clanahan.

Estate Auditing (or, Why Can't Lawyers Add?)—John L. Griffith.

A clinic and refresher for your small estate problems! Come with your questions. Parking available across Champa Street.
