Finally with regard to the convention, let me make two points clear: (1) The state association does not make any reservations at the Broadmoor except for its own guest speakers. Every one is on a first come, first served basis. The reason that reservations are filled soon after the announcement is that the number attending the convention is increasing and some reservations have been accepted by the hotel from the end of last year's convention. (2) Nominations for officers are made by the Board of Governors, but anyone is privileged to make nominations from the floor. Also, the nominating committee—one member representing each judicial district—will appreciate suggestions from the membership.

The state bar association is your association. Take an active interest in the nominations for officers as well as in all of the activities of the association. I hope to see you all in October.
