Conference of the Tenth Judicial Circuit

The annual conference of the tenth judicial circuit of the United States will be held in the United States district court room, post office building, Denver, July 6, 7, 8, 1944. Members of the bar and judiciaries of the states in the tenth circuit are cordially invited to attend the open sessions of this conference, according to an announcement made by United States Circuit Judge Ori L. Phillips.

Honorable Royce H. Savage, judge of the United States district court for the northern district of Oklahoma, will preside at open sessions at 10 A.M. and 2 P.M. Thursday, July 6, the subject of which will be consideration of the Second Preliminary Draft of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure prepared by the advisory committee on rules of criminal procedure appointed by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Honorable Edgar S. Vaught, judge of the United States district court for the western district of Oklahoma, will preside at an open session at 3 P.M. the same day for consideration of proposed amendments to the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States prepared by the advisory committee.

A pre-trial procedure clinic will be held at an open session set for 10 A.M. Friday, July 7, 1944, at which the Honorable Alfred P. Murrah, judge of the tenth circuit court of appeals, will preside. At this session a number of actual pre-trial proceedings will be conducted by district judges of the circuit. Following these proceedings, there will be a discussion of pre-trial procedure led by the Honorable Bolitha J. Laws, associate justice of the district court of the United States for the District of Columbia, and a member of the United States emergency court of appeals. The object of this session will be to bring about improvement in pre-trial procedure by a demonstration of the methods followed by different district judges and exchange of views and constructive criticisms and suggestions.

There will be an informal dinner honoring the Honorable Wiley Rutledge, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, at the Denver Club at 7 P.M. Friday, July 7. Because of the limited facilities the dinner will be open only to the members of the judiciary of the tenth circuit, the United States attorneys of the tenth circuit, and members of the bar attending the conference from outside of Denver.

Carl B. Hyatt, educational specialist, United States Department of Justice, immigration and naturalization service, will address an open session of the conference at 10 A.M. Saturday July 8, 1944. His address will be followed by a discussion of naturalization proceedings led by the Honorable J. Foster Symes, judge of the United States district court for the district of Colorado. Honorable Sam G. Bratton, judge of the tenth circuit court of appeals, will preside at this session.

The conference will come to an end with an executive session at which there will be reports by district judges on the state of judicial business in the several districts, and a report by Robert B. Cartwright, clerk of the United States circuit court of appeals, tenth circuit, on the state of business in the court of appeals, and discussion of miscellaneous matters.
