THE KIDNAPING MENACE

Recent newspaper articles indicate that Denver is again to be the scene of a recurrence of kidnaping activities.

The New York Law Journal, in commenting on the payment of ransom, raised the question as to whether or not such payments constitute compounding of felony, and that crime is further encouraged thereby because the results are highly profitable and partially legalized.

However, whatever the legal phase may be, the human element and interest in the fate of the victim probably will continue to outweigh any fear of legal responsibility for any action taken to secure the return of the victim.
