laws with reference to these courts. I understand the same committee will be continued for the purpose of carrying out the program already adopted.

As a result of my experience during the past year, I am more convinced than ever of the great worth of the Denver Bar Association, and of the importance of active participation on the part of the membership. Such active participation is needed to promote the great objects of the Association, and to bring about a greater friendship, and a better understanding among the lawyers.

The Association has made a wise selection of officers for the coming year. Mr. Gould knows the problems of the Association, perhaps better than any other member, and with such co-operation as I have been fortunate enough to have from the members, his administration should be very successful.

Retiring President
