

Denver Law Review

Volume 4 | Issue 1

Article 2

January 1927

Lot's Wife and 1927

Denver Bar Association Record

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.du.edu/dlr>

Recommended Citation

Lot's Wife and 1927, 4 Denv. B.A. Rec. 2 (1927).

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Denver Law Review at Digital Commons @ DU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Denver Law Review by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @ DU. For more information, please contact jennifer.cox@du.edu, dig-commons@du.edu.

lawyers' organizations but also put Denver on the map as one of the great cities of the United States; then, there was the splendid work done for Amendment No. 1, under the new administration of President Marsh; and, finally, there is the new spirit of close fellowship—the esprit de corps—which has caught hold of us in the past year or two and makes possible the accomplishment of whatever constructive tasks we may set our hands to in 1927.

We are starting out in the New Year with much unfinished important business; with many difficult tasks ahead;

but with a record of accomplishment in the past of which we may well be proud; with an organization the like of which, in numbers and in enthusiasm, we have never known before; and with a spirit that will carry us far on the road to that ultimate legal millennium toward which we are always, if somewhat blindly, striving.

Let there be no Lot's Wife in the Denver Bar Association and hence no pillars of salt to impede our progress.

A Happy, Busy and Useful New Year to you all.

Our New Year's Resolution

WHEREAS, in Nineteen Twenty Six,
The voice of our profession,
In public life and politics,
Was heard and found expression;

NOW, THEREFORE, let us all resolve,
With "Service" as our leaven,
To make a mighty Bar evolve
In Nineteen Twenty Seven.