who, if not partners, are associates duly admitted to practice. The letterhead submitted would, therefore, be misleading.

"It is not proper for members of the Bar even to aid in misrepresenting any occupant or employee in the office as being a member of the Bar."

Jessup's Professional Ideals, 142.

The Committee cannot, of course predict whether such a letterhead would prove to be embarrassing.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD D. UPHAM,
Chairman, For the Committee.
