The Wisconsin statute, a common type, provides:

"It shall be unlawful for any association (building and loan) to make any loans on property used for manufacturing purposes, or upon any theater, public hall, church, school building, hotel or public garage."

In many States building and loan associations are not allowed to loan in excess of $20,000 to one borrower.

NO FAILURES FOR YEARS

Colorado companies are compelled to furnish semi-annual reports showing in minute detail all receipts and expenditures. In addition, each is subject at any time, without advance notice to a thorough audit of its books by the State Building and Loan Department which is under the able direction of Byron L. Miller. Largely because of strict state supervision, there has not been a failure of a building and loan association in Colorado since 1913.

It is interesting to note that in 1925, the percentage of losses to depositors of building and loan associations in the United States was less than one-tenth of one per cent of the total assets.

Loans are made upon the amortized plan with monthly payments, the notes usually maturing in from five to fifteen years. Except for those mentioned above, there are few essential differences between ordinary loans and those made by these organizations.
